Poincare And Cabinet Quit

PREMIER IS AROUSED TO ANGER BY DEFEAT

Loses Vote of Confidence And Immediately Moves To Quit Office

BULLETIN

PARIS, March 26.—Premier Raymond Poincare, who with his cabinet resigned after the government met defeat in the chamber on a vote of confidence, was requested by President Millerand this evening to remain in office and reorganize the ministry. Poincare told the president he would give him a definite answer by noon Thursday.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, March 26.—Premier Raymond Poincare's cabinet, which has been in power since 1922, resigned today after being defeated in the Chamber of Deputies. Immediately afterward Premier Poincare left for Elysee palace to present the resignations of himself and his cabinet to President Millerand.

The government's defeat came during debate upon an amendment to amend the pension bill. Minister of Finance De Lasteyri demanded a vote of confidence against the proposed amendment, which the government opposed.

Lose by 7 Votes

The cabinet lost by a minority of 7, the vote being 271 against the government and 264 in favor of it.

After the ministry's defeat, Minister De Lasteyri left the chamber followed by the other members of the cabinet.

Belief was expressed that President Millerand would exercise the utmost pressure to prevent Poincare from quitting office, perhaps going so far as to

SCORES HUNT FOR WOMAN'S SLAYER

Seek Man Who Stabbed and Shot His Companion on Staten Island

NEW YORK, March 26.—One of the most intense man hunts in the city's history was in full swing today for the slayer of Mrs. Maud Bauer, 31, who was stabbed and shot to death by a motorist when she resisted his attempt to attack her on a lonely road in Staten Island.

Every exit from the scene of the brutal murder was closed by the authorities this morning. Police afoot, in uniform, on horseback, on motorcycles and in police automobiles, scoured the countryside. Detectives by the score joined in the chase.

Report Draft Dodger Coming to Surrender

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the notorious draft dodger, will sail from Hamburg tomorrow on the North German liner Deutschland for New York to give himself up to the American government and serve his sentence for desertion, according to advices received here today.

FIGHT FILM PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Ralph Navarro, department of justice agent, left today for Washington to testify in the Senate probe of Attorney-General Daugherty. Navarro was named in testimony taken by the Senate committee as the department of justice agent who investigated the showing of the Dempsey-Carpentier films.

How Old Is Edna?

SEATTLE, March 26.—Edna Wallace Hopper, self-styled 62-year-old "flapper" today defied authorities who threatened to arrest her on charges of false advertising when she declared that nobody could prove just how old she is because the records of her birth were destroyed in the San Francisco earthquake.

Miss Hopper, a former wife of De Wolf Hopper, stage star, is playing at a local theater, telling women "how to keep young." An investigation by the prosecuting attorney's office and the Better Business bureau revealed the fact that Miss Hopper is listed in several almanacs and by several biographical authorities as having been born on January 17, 1874. This would make her 50 years old.

CONVERT PLANES FOR SEA FLIGHT

Pontoons Replace Land Gear As Flyers Prepare to Resume Journey

BULLETIN

LYONS, France, March 26.—Squadron Commander A. Stuart MacLaren of the British Royal air force arrived this afternoon at 3:40 o'clock from Havre on the second leg of his round-the-world flight.

SEATTLE, March 26.—Work of converting the round-the-world planes from land flyers to seaplanes will be begun today or tomorrow, most of the preliminary preparations being nearly completed. This will be accomplished by removing the present land gear and attaching pontoons through the use of a barge-derrick now moored at the Sand Point wharf. The massive planes will be wheeled onto the wharf and hoisted by the derrick while the change is made and then lowered to the water.

Will Break Flight

Warned that the fiercest storms are likely to be encountered in the North Pacific at this time of the year, Major F. L. Martin, commander of the flight, added a new stopping place to the itinerary, this being Unimak island. The original schedule called for a 400-mile non-stop flight from Chignik to Unalaska. Warning about conditions likely to be encountered was given the flyers by several Seattle authorities on Alaskan weather. The flyers expect to reach Unimak April 11 or 12.

British Flyer Starts After Halt In Fog

HAVRE, France, March 26.—Squadron Commander A. Stuart Maclaren, of the British royal air force, and two companion airmen who were compelled to land here on the first leg of the around-the-world flight, took the air again at 11 o'clock this morning.

They expected to reach Lyons early in the afternoon. They lost their way in the fog and were forced to land here.

Jap Sailors Missing In Steamer Collision

DEAL, Eng., March 26.—Twenty-three members of the crew of the Japanese steamship Toko Fuku Maru, of Kobe, were reported missing today after the ship was sunk in collision with the German steamship Heindal, off Dungeness.

LOST AT SEA, REPORT

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 26.—Reports picked up by radio stations here today purporting to have emanated from New Orleans, carried the brief message that Adolofo de la Huerta, leader of the uprising against the Obregon government in Mexico, was lost at sea when his small schooner was struck by a hurricane.

SIGNS HELP SAFEGUARD CHILDREN

Chief of Police Puts Plan In Operation at Three Local Schools

A definite program for the protection of school children at street crossings in the neighborhood of the city schools was launched yesterday by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, who placed six stands in the middle of the streets, reading "School Zone, reduce speed to five miles per hour," marking off a safety zone for the children to cross the streets without danger of being run down.

These signs were placed as a try-out at the Glendale Avenue school, corner Acacia; Broadway school and Pacific Avenue school. This does not eliminate the officers now on duty there, in addition to this precaution in the way of signs.

Drivers Careful

After placing the signs without the assistance of officers, the signs were watched by the chief for some time, and he found that very good results were obtained, and that in almost every case, the automobile driver slowed down to the required speed as ordered, and it is believed that this is going to work good results, so far as the protection of children is concerned. If it is found that this system will secure the desired results, signs of this character will be placed at all of the schools.

While the other schools at the present time have not had these signs placed, for the reason that it s desired to try out the present system before going ahead further with this plan, at the same time officers are covering all the schools in Glendale at the time the children are going to and from the schools during the day, and school authorities are working

Coolidge Leads In South Dakota Fight

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 26.—The first returns announced officially from the Republican state headquarters here today gave Coolidge 20,944 and Johnson 18,840 from 598 of the 1,768 precincts in the presidential primary vote.

Newspaper returns compiled from 634 precincts made the small difference between the two candidates slightly less, early this afternoon. They gave Coolidge 24,862; Johnson 22,783.

Governor W. H. McMaster had increased his lead over Senator Thomas Sterling for the nomination for United States senator: McMaster 26,281; Sterling 21,140.

GOVERNOR ON TRIAL

INDIANAPOLIS, March 26.—A jury was obtained today to try Governor Warren T. McCray on a charge of embezzlement of $155,000 from the Indiana State Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Stork Wins Race

That the proverbial "stork" can travel faster even than the crack Los Angeles Limited of the Union Pacific transcontinental line is attested by Dr. Edward Swift of 1229 Dorothy drive, who returned yesterday afternoon from a trip to Indianapolis, Ind., with the information that he loaned professional aid in the birth of a baby girl to Mrs. Lewis Langston, en route to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The stork caught up with the flying Limited at 6 o'clock the night of March 15, 1924, in the vicinity of Balch, Calif., which makes the little newcomer a native daughter. Dr. Swift reports that Conductor C. W. Owen of the train at once turned over to his patient a private compartment and furnished a stewardess as an assistant. Mrs. Langston and the infant were taken from the train at Salt Lake City and removed to a hospital.

SENSATION LOOMS IN WHISKEY RAID

Startling Developments Are Promised as Result of Arrest of Three

OAKLAND, March 26.—Developments of a startling nature were promised today by W. R. Paget, federal prohibition field enforcement agent, as the aftermath of the spectacular seizure of smuggled whiskey valued at $20,000 and arrest of three alleged smugglers at a wharf here yesterday.

The three men have been released on $10,000 bail each. Bail was provided by local brokers after the men had been held in default of it. The men are Harold Lucas of San Francisco, Luigio Fasso, ex-bartender of Oakland, and Frank D. Crowley of Los Angeles. Crowley's alias is Joseph Daly.

Federal indictments will be asked of District Attorney Williams today, Paget declared. Action will be also taken today, he said, on the purported confessions made by the three men and he predicted that developments will be a sensation here and at other points along the coast.

PLANES HOP OFF

REDDING, March 26.—Eight airplanes, en route from Crissy field to Seattle, which spent the night here, hopped off at 11:35 a. m. today for their northern objective.

DIRECT REFERENDUM

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Senate this afternoon adopted by a vote of 39 to 35 a proposal to submit all future amendments to the constitution to a direct referendum.

LATEST NEWS

REJECT KNIGHT AS OIL COUNSEL

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The nomination of Samuel Knight as special counsel to prosecute the government's case against the Standard Oil company of California, owner of section 16 in the Elk Hills reserve, was rejected by the Senate public lands committee today.

APPROVE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, March 26.—An amendment to the constitution to give Congress the power to regulate and prohibit the labor of children under 18 years of age was favorably reported to the House today by the judiciary committee by a vote of 14 to 6. It provides for the suspension of all state laws that would conflict with the amendment.

FOIL TRAIN HOLD-UP; TWO MAY DIE

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 26.—City Detectives Thomas Grogan and William McCready were shot, probably fatally, and four would-be bandits were captured at West Homestead, near here this afternoon in an attempt to hold up a Pennsylvania train carrying thousands of dollars into the mill and mining districts of the upper Monongahela valley, according to police reports.

RAIN SWELLS TOTAL FOR SEASON

Glendale's Share of Showers Send Year's Figure Up to 6.26 Inches

BULLETIN

The weather forecast is unsettled weather tonight and Thursday, with probable showers. However, the committee in charge of the Glendale spring fashion display announces the program will be carried out tonight as planned.

"Thanks be to God, He laveth the thirsty lands" was the mighty chorus of thanksgiving that sounded forth last night from the production of the oratorio, "Elijah," at the Broadway High school, and when the vast audience left the school building they found showers of rain falling over the city.

The rain continued on through the night and this morning H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway, reports that .78 of an inch of rain fell, bringing the season's record up to 6.26 inches.

A year ago the seasonal record was 9.58 inches.

Steady Rain Brings Benefits to Southland

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—Coats, umbrellas and other rainproof articles were brought into service here again today, as a rain, which started falling shortly before midnight last night, continued today. The rain was believed to be general throughout the southland. On the whole, the rain was slow and steady and most beneficial to the soil.

At 5 a. m. today the official gauge at the weather bureau here showed .20 of an inch, according to H. B. Hersey, in charge.

The heaviest rain of the southland was reported from the San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara sections. It was reported that 1.60 inches fell near San Luis Obispo and 1.33 inches fell at Santa Barbara, with .20 of an inch at Ventura. Heavy showers were also reported from Los Angeles harbor.

Predicts More Showers All Over State Today

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Although clearing skies heralded today the passing of the storm which in the past three days has brought rain worth millions to California orchardists and agriculturists, the weather bureau predicted further showers today and tonight with clear weather tomorrow.

San Luis Obispo received the Pupils Hear Lecture At School Auditorium

Dr. Charles E. Barker, former health adviser to the Hon. William Howard Taft, addressed the student body of the Broadway High school in the auditorium at 11 o'clock this morning on "How to Make the Most Out of Life." He spoke under the auspices of the Glendale Rotary club.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Barker addressed the girls of the Broadway High school and their mothers on "A Mother's Relation to Her Daughter." Tonight at 8 o'clock he will address the boys of the school and their fathers on "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

The addresses were arranged through the co-operation of President George B. Karr of the Glendale Rotary club and Principal George U. Moyse of the Glendale Union High school system, himself a Rotarian. Dr. Charles E. Barker is speaking throughout the country on these subjects, sponsored by Rotary International.

FAVOR WAGE PACT

INDIANAPOLIS, March 26.—A referendum of the membership of the United Mine Workers of America shows it to be overwhelmingly in favor of the three-year wage agreement negotiated at Jacksonville, Fla., according to figures made public at the miners' headquarters here today.

Look Out! It's Raining!

CHARLES M. (left) and his brother, PAUL HATFIELD, of the Glendale Music Company, 109 North Brand boulevard, purveyors extraordinary of rain and its by-products to the San Joaquin valley in particular and Southern California in general, are now under full swing at Coalinga with their cloud-coaxing apparatus. They started operations Monday, March 17.

OUST DAUGHERTY, IS LODGE'S PLEA

Urges President to Demand Resignation; Report of Retirement Denied

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty had a conference of three-quarters of an hour with President Coolidge today.

"Routine government business" was discussed, White House attaches declared, in denying reports that the question of the attorney-general's retirement had again been brought forward.

Daugherty's visit to the White House, however, coincided with that of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader of the Senate, who has been urging the president to oust Daugherty. Lodge was closeted with the president for twenty minutes after Daugherty left.

Fear Twenty Chinese Lose Lives In Fire

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—A score of persons were today believed to have lost their lives in a fire that last night swept a two-story building in Apablaza street and for a time threatened Los Angeles' Chinatown. Police and firemen today combed the ruins for bodies.

Burned beyond recognition the body of one boy was found in a yard adjoining the building which is said to have housed 50 persons.

The police today held Joe Lemoine, arrested in connection with the investigation of the fire.

Owners of the property estimated the damage at $100,000.

HONOR TO CARDINALS

ROME, March 26.—The second of the three consistorial honors for the two new American princes of the Catholic church—Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal Hayes of New York, was paid today with the conferring of the red mozetta and bieretta by Pope Pius XI in the ancient consistory hall of the vatican.

CONSENT REQUIRED

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Discharge from the military service of men under 21 years who were enlisted without the consent of their parents was authorized by an amendment written into the army appropriations bill this afternoon by the House. To effect the discharge, the parents would have to make a written request to have their sons released.

Hatfield Brothers Assert They Have Won $8,000 Posted by Ranchers

FRESNO, March 26.—Charles M. Hatfield, "rain-maker," who, aided by his brother Paul, both of Glendale, Cal., has been wooing the skies in the vicinity of Coalinga for the past two weeks, announced today that his contract with the ranchers of that section to produce two inches of rainfall had been fulfilled as a result of the downpour in the San Joaquin valley of the past thirty-six hours and that the $8,000 posted by the farmers was now due him.

The Hatfields' mining paraphernalia resembles a quartet of oil rigs, four derricks being set up, one on each corner of a square roughly 100 feet on a side. Instead of boring down into the ground, they "bore" up into the air, puncture the clouds—and down comes the much-needed rain.

If they fail, the Hatfield brothers receive no pay for their labors. They claim they have made rain twenty-three times in the past twenty years, never yet failing down on the job.

Farmers Happy

Practically one inch of rain, the heaviest downpour of the season, has fallen in Fresno county, ending the serious drought. Farmers here were jubilant today, as the rain was reported general over San Joaquin valley.

The snow supply in the mountains was considerably increased.

At Hanford, near the scene of the "air gassing" operations of "Rain-Maker Hatfield," it was still raining hard today. Up to 8 o'cock this morning a total of .55 of an inch had been registered in the past twenty-four hours at Hanford. Heavy clouds were reported over the Hanford section,

HUGE STOCK 'CLEAN UP' REVEALED BY ROXIE STINSON

Reluctant to Inform Senate Committee Names of Five Speculators

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Five men in Washington cleaned up $33,000,000 in one gigantic deal on the stock market in the fall of 1922, speculating in oil stocks, the Daugherty investigating committee was informed today by Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jesse W. Smith, the boon companion of Attorney General Daugherty.

Neither Daugherty nor Smith, however, were in on the deal, Mrs. Stinson said, and Jesse told her they were "sore" on that account.

She said Smith had told her the names of the men but she declined to give them "until I'm cross-examined."

Blamed for Suicide

The story of the $33,000,000 deal was related to the committee by Mrs. Stinson after she had tearfully and dramatically accused the attorney-general of

SEEK MYSTERIOUS NOTE TO ACTRESS

Believe Solution to Death Tangle In Missive to Chilean Beauty

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—The trail of a mysterious note addressed to Mrs. Christine Gentt, Chilean beauty, film actress and daughter of a former Chile governor, was followed by investigators today in an effort to clear up the tangle surrounding the death of Lewis Octavio De Caso, screen actor, who died in Hollywood, apparently a suicide by poison, two weeks ago.

The letter is strangely elusive. The coroner had it once, but, believing De Caso's death a case of suicide, signed a suicide death certificate and gave the letter to L. A. Craw without reading it. The letter was written in Spanish.

Today Miss Gentt denied she and De Caso were sweethearts. "We were friends, nothing more," she said.

WRESTLER MARRIED

CHICAGO, March 26.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis today followed his last night's successful defense of his world's wrestling championship by slipping away from his friends and quietly marrying Miss Bessie McNear of Kansas City.

Crowds Flock To Inspect Spring Fashion Displays

The spring rain failed to dampen the spirits of Dame Fashion and her devotees, who celebrated today the opening of the Spring Fashion Exhibition at which Glendale merchants are to be hosts tonight, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Brilliant displays will be revealed tonight in windows of local stores and early this morning the crowds began arriving, anxious to see the many lovely things on exhibition within doors.

Fashion shows with pretty models and pleasing music amid artistic settings, were features of the afternoon, and will be repeated again tonight from 7:30 till 9:30 o'clock, when local stores will hold "open house."

Glendale merchants of the Shopping News and other merchants cooperating in the exhibition are receiving compliments on the opening day of their four day carnival of fashions.

The regular monthly dance to be given Friday night, March 28, at the I. O. O. F. hall under the auspices of the Glendale Sciots, is sure to be a success and well attended, according to reports received from the committee in charge.

Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Becker Sciots orchestra, which is well known for its syncopations and splendid jazz music.

During the evening something special in the way of entertainment will be presented and refreshments served.

All Sciots, Masons and their friends are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Dinner at Club

An enjoyable affair of the week was that of last Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Ohlsen of 619 North Isabel street, entertained a party of ten with a dinner party at the Oakmont Country club, complimenting Dr. and Mrs. George P. Shidler of Torrance, who recently arrived from York, Neb. Dr. Shidler expects to continue his practice of surgery in Torrance.

After dinner the evening was devoted to bridge and dancing.

The guests included Dr. and Mrs. Geoge P. Shidler of Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Pilcher of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parr of Long Beach and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Ohlsen.

EAGLE ROCK ASKS FOR BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

More Hydrants and Grading of Certain Highways Sought by City

Important recommendations for more adequate fire protection of the Eagle Rock section have been made to Battalion Chief Charles B. Casey of District No. 2 by Lieutenant E. W. Welty of the local engine company, after a complete survey of conditions.

The report tabulates a long list of locations where hydrants are needed. In certain places, 2-inch risers are recommended: Buena Vista Terrace and Roanoke Avenue. Buena Vista Terrace and Eucalyptus Lane. Buena Vista Terrace and Mahantonga Terrace. Glen Arbor Avenue, opposite Minden Place.

Concerning the report, Lieutenant Welty states:

"In places where 2-inch risers are recommended no other means of getting water is possible, and I belpieve these to be very essential.

"In connection with this report I would urgently request that a crossing be established across the L. A. Railway tracks at Corliss Avenue and Glassell Avenue. With a fire in this region we would be seriously hampered because of this long stretch of impassable trackage, and especially so with a hydrant at this location, as requested.

"I would also urge the grading of College View Avenue between Addison Way and Norwalk Avenue. This condition of impassibility might necessitate going down hill quite some distance and then having to drive back up again, should the fire department fail to guage the exact location of the fire."

Blind Radio Fan

Dr. John C. Shedd, professor of physics at Occidental college and a prominent resident of Eagle Rock, is in receipt of the following interesting letter from a blind radio fan in Springfield, Ohio, who recently listened in on one of his lectures over the air:

"I am a blind man. Some time ago I listened in over a receiving set, and became very much enthused. Since I could not enjoy the picture show, I determined to have a radio receiving set. I could not read up on the subject of radio, or see the diagrams, so I talked to friends about it. They gave me some valuable information and I began to construct a very cheap set using the spiderweb coils and one tube, which was a success. As I was able I added the second tube and then the third. The set now stands me between forty and forty-five dollars.

"Your program last Thursday night came in very good and I was greatly surprised. The lecture on the method of science was especially clear and interesting. I wish to thank you for this program. It was splendid, and I hope some day to have a set that I can tune in with you whenever I desire to do so. If you send out programs by mail, please add me to your list.

"Gratefully yours,
"OSCAR E. GREEN.

"P. S.—I neglected to say that I am using tubes run off of dry cell batteries. You cannot imagine what this little cheap set gives one deprived of sight."

President Names Body to Conserve Navy Oil

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Steps to increase the nation's naval oil reserves and to conserve the available oil supply have been taken by President Coolidge.

The president appointed a commission of three members, whose duty it will be to study the oil problem and to make recommendations for assuring the navy an adequate supply of fuel for war emergencies and at all other times.

The members of the commission are: George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey; Rear-Admiral Hillary P. Jones, of the general naval board, and P. D. Bris[illegible] of the Bureau of Mineralogy of the state of California.

It was pointed out officially at the White House that at the present rate of production there is estimated to be but twenty years of oil supply within the limits of the United States.

Experts' Figures on Compensation Differ

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The bonus situation was further confused when government experts, appearing before the Senate finance committee, differed by billions of dollars in their estimates of its cost.

Howard P. Brown, from the Veterans' Bureau, estimated the cost of the House bonus bill would total $2,025,000,000, but Joseph S. McCoy, a Treasury Department expert, declared the cost would exceed $4,800,000,000. These figures were in addition to an estimate of $4,600,000,000 offered by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the committee, on his substitute measure.

PICK COMMITTEE MEMBERS TO AID IN MUSIC WEEK

Mayor Cryer Named Honorary Head as Plans for Event Get Under Way

At the first executive meeting held last night in the grill room of the Southern California Edison company building, approximately 100 chairmen of as many committees gathered to make preparations for what is considered to be the most ambitious program ever devised by a Music Week committee.

The various Music Weeks of the country, not the least of which were the other celebrations of Los Angeles, have brought about for the first time a national observance of the week, which will occur this year simultaneously with the state and community weeks, May 3 to 11.

Mayor Cryer Chairman

It is announced by the executive committee, of which Mayor Cryer is the honorary chairman and Ben F. Pearson is general chairman, that practically every club, organization, school and church in the city and throughout the country is entering into the spirit of the Music Week program with enthusiasm and that Los Angeles county will go over the top with big features.

Twenty or thirty members of the County Choral Union will combine in a gigantic festival at the Hollywood bowl on Sunday, May 4, which, with the special American music programs in the city churches, will practically open the week's festivity.

Big Band Contest

One of the big features of the program will be an immense band contest, open to all bands in Southern California. These bands

Call Meeting to Discuss Widening West Broadway

A movement to extend the proposed widening and paving of West Broadway from Pacific avenue to San Fernando road will be launched at a meeting of the West Broadway Improvement Association, called for 8 o'clock Thursday night, March 27, in the office of President O. M. Newby, 107 South Central avenue.

The City Council has acted favorably on the proposal to widen West Broadway ten feet on each side, from Central avenue to Pacific avenue, and pave it from curb to curb, making it an eighty-foot boulevard. But the City Planning Commission, whose chairman is T. W. Watson, has advised holding in abeyance any action until an effort has been made to interest property owners from Pacific avenue to San Fernando road in making the street uniform in width and paving its entire length from Central avenue west.

All property owners and others interested are invited by Mr. Newby on behalf of the West Broadway Improvement association to attend Thursday night's meeting.

MAKES ANSWER TO RECENT TALK UPON SCIENTISTS

Chas. W. Kimball Gives His Views on Sermon Preached By Rev. Wm. Evans

Editor The Evening News:—Although not a member of the Christian Science church, and speaking from observation rather than with authority, the writer may throw some light on the questions asked by the Reverend Doctor William Evans in lecturing upon "Why I am not a Christian Scientist" as quoted in Friday's Glendale Evening News.

"Why," begins the doctor, "did I have such a time finding the desired early editions of Christian Science literature in libraries and second-hand stores?" Conditions would vary in different localities, but many public librarians will testify that the circulation of Christian Science publications is active and the wear and tear on pages, binding and cover necessitates frequent replacement of old with new editions. If this did not explain the instance, the doctor has in mind, it is quite reasonable to suppose that Christian Scientists, interested in giving the public the best, would replace the obsolete editions with revised editions.

Some ten years ago, the proprietor of a large eastern second-hand book store said to the writer: "Wouldn't encourage your looking here for Christian Science books. We rarely have them offered for sale and when they do come into stock we sell them out next day. The demand is good and there is almost no supply of used books."

Again the doctor inquires: "Why have these writings, supposedly Divine revelation, been

ANTI-NOISE LAW AND MUFFLER ON ROOSTERS URGED

Two Hours Sleep Lost Daliy on Account of Crowing in Early Morning

Advertising of the right kind, at the right time and in the right manner, is perfectly all right and proper, everybody will agree, but there is one form of advertising a resident of Glendale objects to, and he threatens to carry the matter to the highest court.

So wrathful has this disturbed resident become that he is thinking of searching the buckram-bound volumes of the city's laws—past, present and future—to see if he can unearth a forgotten ordinance which will prohibit the lusty crowing of a corn-fed rooster within the city bounds of Glendale.

Failure to find one, it is hinted, may result in an aggressive campaign for new councilmen, city managers, mayors and any other officials necessary to have such an ordinance placed on the books, and the prospect of a special election even looms upon the troubled horizon of the man whose sleep is disturbed daily by Sir Chanticleer's clarion call.

Need Chicken Inspector

A chicken inspector—no, not the kind most folks are thinking about—may even be appointed, and penalties for allowing boisterous roosters to roam about the yard with open mufflers will be imposed, if the ordinance is found or passed.

"I shall be glad if you can inform me of the quickest way to get rid of an intolerable nuisance in the shape of crowing roosters kept by the neighbors to the detriment, through loss of sleep, to those who live in their vicinity," writes this sufferer in his letter

There need not be so much concern over bolshevism. The real red menace in this country today is the bobbed auburn kind.

PAVING AFFORDS TRAFFIC RELIEF FOR BRAND BLVD

Glendale Ave. Improvement to Restore Business to City's East Side

With the paving on the eastern side of Glendale avenue from Cerritos avenue on the south to Broadway on the north completed, and thrown open to vehicular traffic, Brand boulevard which has been carrying double the amount of traffic for the past few weeks due to the closing of the parallel artery, will be relieved of a share of its burden, and business which has been seriously interrupted on Glendale avenue, will again assume some degree of normalcy.

Work was being rushed with all rapidity possible on the western half of the avenue, until the rain of the week end halted operations. Several blocks of the old surfacing still remain to be removed. The grade has been completed and the base laid as far north as Palmer avenue, so with pleasant weather, Peter L. Ferry, who was awarded the contract for this improvement by the city, hopes to complete the improvement in record time.

Tempts Speeders

The opening of the street has caused the traffic officers no small amount of worry, as the smooth surface extending through the city is a great temptation to drivers to "step on her" especially at night, when persons living on Glendale avenue frequently report that they can hear the hum of some machine that is evidently making in the neighborhood of fifty or sixty miles per hour.

The quality of the material being used and the work being done, over which there has been considerable discussion, will not

EARLY TIMES ON PLATTE RECALLED BY AUTO VISITOR

Residents of "Cities of a Night" Cosmopolitan Crowd of People

By 'OLD TIMER,'
Of The Evening News Staff.

During the trouble on the border at the time of the world war, a visit was made to Calexico, and across the line to Mexicali on September 16, the Mexican Fourth of July. U. S. troops guarded the border on this side and the dark swarthy Mexican troops on the other, but otherwise the crowds mingled in a most friendly fashion.

A more cosmopolitan crowd cannot be imagined. Turbaned Hindus, Greeks, Russians, Japanese vegetable growers, Chinese gamblers, the negro cotton picker with his mule-drawn cart and the pickaninnies peeking out, dark skinned Luize in (purple) satin gown, her brood following blissfully consuming that American product, the ice cream cone, all were there.

All in Gay Dress

Under a ramada in Mexicali, the crowds congregated, bands played, and the little guard at the corner of the ramada clicked his heels and saluted as an officer in a splendid limousine parked his car at the side of our trusty Ford. It was an interesting sight and as ever on such occasions, the writer was [illegible] who are they, whence came they, and why are they here.

Since the establishment of the modern auto camp it has occurred to Old Timer that an answer to the above question would bring out equally interesting facts as in these "cities of a night," the ever changing crowd coming from the far north, the sunny

Among cars selling for a like price, you'll find none to match this handsome Nash Six Sedan for seven.

Judge it yourself. See the over-value Nash gives in every feature.

For instance, every cylinder wall is process-honed. This imparts a mirror-like finish and insures a perfect-fitting piston. Costly cars pursue exactly this engineering practice.

Again in the crankshaft. Nash was first to procure and is one of an exclusive few who enjoy the benefits of a specially designed machine for accurately balancing Nash shafts.

Nash makes its own axles and transmission parts, including bearings—in Nash shops—so that these important parts must pass exceptionally severe tests by rigid Nash standards.

In the stalwartly fashioned body there are fully 26 forged steel and malleable iron braces strengthening the body at places where strain and stress are most apt to be borne.

In every detail of construction, every nicety of appointment, every comfort provision you will find that Nash offers surplus value.

Politicians Are Busy
Give Disabled Their Due
Fashion Show in Glendale
Action—Something Human

By Gil A. Cowan

With the South Dakota primaries developing a close contest between Coolidge and Johnson, political observers here and elsewhere are beginning to sit up and take notice. And, while South Dakota is no criterion, it remains to be seen whether Calvin Coolidge will poll the vote necessary to make him the candidate leaders hope for. At any rate, the party organization will accept the president before they will even consider Johnson of California, but the senator may reveal many needs of the Republican platform.

More surprising, however, to the observer is the strength which William G. McAdoo shows. While Democrats disagree as to his candidacy, they are having a hard time to find anyone more widely known.

It will take more results, nevertheless, to convince everyone that all is well in any political camp.

There is a ruling affecting the federal vocational trainers in southern California which seems worthy of criticism, although it is an exception which may confound Washington authorities.

As we have had it explained, the man attending university, and particularly the disabled veteran, returns to his compensation pay basis—some as low as 10 per cent disability pay—during the three months' vacation period.

Now it sounds reasonable that if he is in need of vocational training to rehabilitate himself, likewise he is in need of the wherewithal for support for not only himself, but, sometimes, a family.

During the summer vacation season in southern California it is difficult for a person to gain remunerative employment, particularly if they are only to temporarily fill a job. Also, it is ridiculous to think of a disabled man impressing employers when the brawn of our schools and colleges is available.

Therefore, may we not suggest that the government keep faith and pay the veteran students during the vacation period enough so they may rebuild their war-shattered bodies. We believe the physical well-being of a trainee is equal to that of his mental qualifications in days to come.

With $5,000,000 capital for new factories in Los Angeles, as announced today, there is every prospect of increased prosperity in the southland. That is one thing about Los Angeles we like—whatever benefits the metropolis also benefits the outlying communities.

And when Glendale, or Long Beach, or any other southland community makes a record, it is likewise a plume in the cap of Los Angeles.

Yesterday we were reading of 2272 passengers being in port on ocean liners at Los Angeles harbor. That looks like something real, doesn't it?

The day before that we read of Los Angeles harbor setting the pace in America for intercoastal tonnage during 1923. One more evidence of the magnitude of things done right here in our section.

It is difficult, indeed, to convince people that this metropolitan area is going to be comparable only to New York in a very short while, if it is not true today.

And we must reflect this very attitude in our part in this game of life.

Glendale merchants are presenting a fashion exposition this week which is worthy of your attention. In their stores you will find displayed the very latest modes in everything from shoes to headgear.

Time was when Glendale was young, a dozen years ago or so, that shoes and headgear were the only things to be found. Now every sort of ready-to-wear—anything and everything—are to be found in the well-stocked stores, filled with the latest merchandise.

Shop around, see the sights, and learn to trade in GLENDALE. The Glendale Evening News can do no more than to commend your attention to what this city has to offer.

It is a privilege and a pleasure, alike, to be the home town newspaper of "the fastest growing city in America."

Action is the keynote of all success. No battle was ever won by the armies sitting still. No machine ever operated without a builder giving to it that life throb of action. And there is little need of illustrating further. The joy of doing things should be paramount to all. When you are called upon to play your little part, do it with that grace which befits the Creator's belief in the ability of human beings to make the world better for their brief visit here.

You may be wrong, but do something. There are enough critics in this old world of ours to set you right, if you are wrong. And it is a real pleasure to continue the course without being criticised.

In some of the great cities where the writer has worked it was the one desire never to be "called on the carpet." We succeeded very nicely in dodging a display of wrath. In other words, we went unnoticed, perhaps. Incidentally, we were among those sharing in experience.

Now some of these fine days we are going to capitalize that experience. Likely not in writing, for we know our poor efforts are not appreciated by sufficient numbers to really count. Yet there are other things in life worth while. And only in ACTION will we be able to "cash in" on them.

and the distant east afford the same cosmopolitan spectacle.

Here is a Canadian, who has tales of cold and snow, here a southerner softening his vowels and slurring his consonants, or a New Englander or New Yorker, and thousands of mid-westerners, with the same spirit with which their ancestors left the rock bound coast of the Atlantic and went into the forests of Ohio, the swamps of Indiana and then on into the cattle country of Neraska, eastern Colorado and Texas, with the hope of bettering their financial or climatic conditions. At last have reached California.

Meets Autoist

The other day at the Gateway branch post office, a little woman turning hastily from the window, bumped into the writer who was star gazing or something of the kind. Profuse apologies were offered and accepted and further conversation while walking down the street revealed the fact that the stranger was at one of the auto camps on the San Fernando road. Her husband had secured work and she was out house hunting she said. She was evidently a little homesick and the tent had leaked in the rain of the last night. The information was given that she was from the middle west having lived at one time at Brady, Nebraska.

And then Time ceased for "Old Timer" and days were lived over that had been forgotten. Picture if you can a little red station among the sand dunes of the Platte river near which the Union Pacific railroad winds its way. Its only excuse for existence seemed to be the huge water tank where the thirst of the mighty engine which pulled great trains of emigrants for the far west or cattle from the thousand hills to the markets of Chicago and Kansas City, was quenched.

Along Platte River

The writer, a young girl, was a guest for six weeks of a relative who was station agent at Brady Island as Brady was designated in those days. It was a great visit. Our supplies came from hundreds of miles away. Friendly train men brought fresh eggs and green vegetables. Meat came from North Platte. The laundry was done on Brady Island in the middle of the Platte river for which the station was named.

The first time not realizing the limitations of an island homestead, no soap nor starch was taken and the sun burned laundress volunteered the information that the clothes had been made clean by sheer elbow grease and plenty of water. The garments had been dried on the brush fence of the cattle corral and the wonder was that they looked as well as they did.

A section house where the trackwalkers lived and a sheep farmer with his brood of two-heads constituted the population. For exercise and fresh air the visitor was taken up in a springless cart to the top of the sand dunes and the spirited little horse, a native of the hills delighted to gallop down with his shrieking load.

The same sturdy little fellow would soberly pull the phaeton through the lapping waters of the Platte which have been made famous in the picture, "The Covered Wagon." The picture must have been made at the time of the spring floods as usually the water flows lazily along the broad sandy bed, as Mark Twain says, "Three quarters of an inch in depth and three miles wide."

One incident stands out clearly, that of going up to North Platte on a freight to which was attached six or more coaches of emigrants. The obliging conductor asked us to visit these coaches but after a whiff from the opened door of a car which had been the home for two weeks or more of sixty or seventy of the "Great unwashed," a hasty retreat was beaten.

At the stock yards at North Platte, a small heard of buffalo was seen, stealing hay which had been provided by shippers for their cattle. They belonged to "Buffalo Bill" the famous scout who at that time made his home in North Patte, and were later a part of his "Wild West" show which was an attraction of the 90's.

It was all cattle country here except when an unwelcome sheepman brought his flocks in. Constand trouble between sheepmen or daring homesteader and the cattle men of the ranges was the source of many a tragedy. A cattleman by the name of Olive had the range around Brady and with his cowboys were later convicted of lynching and burning two settlers. His trial was held at Hastings and a number of former residents of that city, in Glendale will remember awakening one morning to find the court house square occupied by U. S troops to prevent the rescue of Olive and his gang by cowboys and desperadoes of the plains. But that, too, is another pioneer story.

PAVING AFFORDS TRAFFIC RELIEF
Improvement of Glendale Ave. to Lighten Burden of Brand Boulevard

be finally determined until the street is entirely finished and presented to the city for acceptance.

An inspector is on duty at all times when the sub-base, as well as the top, is being laid, who reports directly to Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer each day.

Merchants Jubilant

Merchants whose business has suffered owing to closing of the street to traffic are jubilant that one side is finished and that once more cars are using this important link in the city's traffic chain.

Many of the residents of the street who have looked forward to big things for Glendale avenue when the paving is completed, will have the soundness of their optimism put to the test.

With the ever increasing population in the Verdugo Woodlands, along with Montrose, La Canada, La Crescenta and Tujunga, Glendale avenue is destined to be, according to their opinion, one of the heaviest traveled thoroughfares in the city. It will be the main feeder, they say, for the immense amount of foothill country lying north of Glendale.

Values Advancing

That property values have been enhanced far beyond the amount invested in the improvement is also asserted, and many who a short time ago were figuring on selling property on Glendale avenue are now keeping it in anticipation of participating in the increased values which they say are sure to come with the completion of the street.

As the space between the rails of the Glendale & Montrose railway was paved along with the eastern side of the street, the completion of the paving will be rushed along faster than has been the case heretofore.

The completion of this much needed improvement will mark one of the greatest forward steps taken by the city in recent years, and will be a large factor in the development of this section of the city and country adjoining Glendale, which it serves.

SHOWS GROCERY LINE

A demonstration of the entire line of products prepared by Austin, Nichols & Co., of New York, is being held today in the Japan Art & Tea Store, 135 South Brand boulevard, and will continue until tomorrow night. Jennie H. Gregg, the firm's representative, is conducting the demonstration.

PICK COMMITTEE FOR MUSIC WEEK
Mayor Cryer Named Honorary Head as Plans for Big Event Get Under Way

will be required to play on May 10 and 11 on a large stage at the Coliseum and it is said that over 100 bands have already indicated their intention of competing. It is hoped that every city in Southern California will send a band as a full attendance will make this the greatest contest of its kind in the United States.

Further information regarding this may be obtained from the chairman of the band contest, E. B. Degroot, 930 West Thirty-ninth street, Los Angeles.

Rules Available

All the rules and regulations governing the contest may be seen at the office of this paper. The various classifications in this contest include high school bands, miscellaneous boys' bands, university and college bands, as well as army and navy and N. G. C. bands. There will also be military and fancy drill contests, the bands playing during the drill.

It is promised by President Ben Pearson, of the Civic Music and Arts association, the chief sponsoring organization of Music Week, that this will be the biggest music celebration ever held in Southern California and that recitals, concerts, pageants, special entertainments for "shut-ins" and extensive radio programs will be continuous in presentation from early morning until late in the evening throughout the entire week.

Warner Branches Out In Realty Profession

A. H. Warner, 736 East Wilson avenue, who has been connected with Finlay and Preston, realtors, for the past five months, has severed his connection with that firm to launch out on his own account. For the present he has secured temporary offices in room 5 Monarch building, but by May 1 he will establish himself permanently in offices in the Security building at Brand boulevard and Broadway, where, in addition to general real estate business, he will specialize on exchanges.

Before entering the real estate business Mr. Warner was connected with the mechanical department of The Glendale Evening News, and his success in his new line, he says, has been most encouraging.

DEMANDS BAN ON NOISY ROOSTERS
Sleepless Citizen to Insist on City Ordinance to Choke Chanticleer to The Glendale Evening News.

With tears in his eyes, the patient sufferer outlined some of the methods he employed in order to enjoy his forty winks without being awakened when the first gray gleamings of an opalescent dawning streaked the eastern skies.

First, he tried out his plan of buying all the offending fowls in the neighborhood and punishing them in much the same manner as the Revolutionists treated the Royalists a couple of hundred years ago in France, and thus put an end to his "Reign of Terror."

Chicken a-la-Kill

The crow of these over-joyous roosters was stopped, he said, but he soon tired of the sight of gore and the taste of chicken, fried, stewed, boiled, baked, browned and burnt, when his thrifty wife insisted upon converting a frying pan into a funeral pyre.

On top of his agony, caused by indigestion and a rapidly shrinking bank roll, he learned the owners of the roosters were double-crossing him—taking the money he had paid to get rid of the noise and buying more roosters, and raising the price when they found he was in the market.

Naught remained but to move from that neighborhood when the peace and tranquillity of the morn was disturbed at 5 a. m., he said, so he sacrificed their little home and paid a higher price for a less desirable abode in another part of the city.

Shades of Tennyson

He had not quaffed his cup of woe to the last drop, however, for at 4 o'clock the first morning in their new home he was awakened by the call of the wild—more riotous roosters in the offing. Quickly dressing, he walked into the back yard and there beheld roosters to the right of him, roosters to the left of him, roosters behind him, crowing and thundering, as Tennyson might have so aptly put it.

He thought of moving once more, to flee from his enemy, to seek a spot somewhere away from where roosters, like Macbeth, murder sleep. His funds were too low, so he needs must stay.

Now, he wants or will create an ordinance calling for mufflers for roosters within the city limits and the privilege of a hard-working man to sleep between 4 and 6 a. m., instead of lying awake and listening to the blatant tones of a brass-throated Rhode Island Red splitting the sun-blessed, balmy atmosphere of Glendale.

Nebraska Night to Be Observed at Meeting

"Nebraska Night" will be observed tomorrow night at the community "sing" at the Harvard High school at 7:30 o'clock. Among the former Nebraskans who will serve on the reception committee are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Troth and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morton.

Alexander Stewart will lead the singing, and Mrs. Helen Sawyer will be accompanist.

Announcement is made that the Community Service orchestra will meet at 8 o'cock tonight at the Harvard High school to work on Easter music. J. Arthur Myers is director.

The band will also meet tonight to work on music they will give tomorrow night at the opening of the Southern Pacific station.

A new device for pre-canceling stamps is being tested by the Post Office Department.

Oxy Track Team Will Face Grizzly Squad

The track fans will get a chance to see the 1924 Southern California track champions in action next Saturday afternoon, when Occidental will entertain the Grizzlies from S. B. U. C. on Patterson Field oval. This is the last appearance of the Tiger varsity on their home cinder path this season.

Although the Oxy team is considered an easy winner, several of the events will be hotly contested and very interesting. The meet will furnish Coach Pipal's men a good workout for the conference meet which comes off the following Saturday at the L. A. Coliseum with the Southern Branch in charge.

Oxy will have a harder time to win over Pomona again in the conference meet because a few tracksters from other colleges are bound to eliminate the Eagle Rock men from some of the events, while the Sagehens are practically sure of thier events. Graham of Calteck will probably take the pole vault away from Goodenough of Occidental. Each have gone over 12 feet, 5¾ inches.

SUIT MATERIALS

Materials for the spring suits are many. For instance, twills and French serges with hairnne stripes and hairline checks, wool alpacas, cover cloth, plain reps, checked reps, flannel and Oxford cloth and soft dark wool mixtures.

THE GLENDALE

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Mark of Zorro" shows at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today. Fred Niblo directed this exciting adventure film, which was adapted to the screen from the story by Johnston McCulley, "The Curse of Capistrano," appearing originally in the All-Story weekly.

Fencing has long been added to Doug's" versatility as a means of keeping himself in the best physical condition. This made it necessary for Director Fred Niblo to put Noah Beery, who plays the part of the braggart, Gonzales, and Robert McKim, who acts the villain of the over-zealous and fortune-wooer, Captain Juan Ramon, through a course of fencing.

THE GATEWAY

Today only, at the Gateway Theatre, Kate Jordan's "The Next Corner," is the Paramount feature, with Conway Tearle, Lon Chaney, Dorothy Mackaill, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser, the latter a well-known resident of Glendale, known to her friends as Mrs. Jack Gardner.

It's a story of every woman—her happiness and her husband. We name him last because he is the last person Elsie Maury thinks of in the mad whirl of Parisian night life in this production. He's away in the Argentine—she, left behind, is having the time of her young life when—but we know you'd rather see the picture for yourself. It's a really worthwhile production.

WOMEN OFFER NOMINATIONS IN CLUB'S ELECTION

Predict Two Candidates for Presidency; Hear Native of India

By KATHERINE V. SINKS,
Of The Evening News Staff.

Rumors were current yesterday afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon club with the casting of the nominating ballots for the annual election Tuesday, April 22, that the election will not only be one of the livest ones in the club's history but will be unique in its possibilities of putting into office several of the younger women of the club.

The end of the present club year completes the two year regime of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who has wisely and inspiringly led the club women during the months of the project of building and occupying their new club home.

Now some one must be selected to carry on and so far there are but two candidates slated for the presidency. Both women are prominent in club affairs and the selection contest promises to be a close one.

Predict Close Contests

As the time for the election draws near campaigning is on the increase and there will be close contests for other offices as well as for the presidency.

Serving on the election board are Mrs. Lillian Dow and Mrs. E. B. Sutton, chosen by the club board, and Mrs. A. M. Hunt, Mrs. J. H. Toal and Mrs. E. D. Cutting, elected by the club. These women were busy yesterday receiving nominating ballots and at the meeting next week they will doubtless announce the ballot to be considered April 22.

The executive board of the club met yesterday morning with Mrs. Campbell presiding, and Mrs. C. W. Houston serving as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Hunter.

By unanimous vote $10 was voted to the Travelers' aid work and $10 to the George Junior Republic work at Chino.

The next meeting of the board will be on Friday, April 4.

$7,452 In Treasury

A feature report of the day came from Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, club treasurer, who stated that there are $7452 in the club treasury.

Miss Eva Daniels, publicity chairman, who is receiving reservations for the press banquet during the convention, stated that eighty reservations have been made to date.

In the afternoon Mrs. Campbell again presided and Mrs. Houston was again secretary pro tem.

Mrs. Campbell asked that all club women having cars sign up so that they may be counted on to take the convention delegates for a motor ride Wednesday, April 9. Following the ride there will be a tea at the Oakmont Country club.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice president and chairman of ways and means, gave plans for the annual district banquet during the convention, and also spoke of the May fete the club will hold at the L. C. Brand estate.

At the recommendation of Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, chairman of Indian welfare, the club passed a resolution supporting Congressional bill No. 2015 in the interests of the Pueblo Indians.

Native of India Speaks

The speaker of the afternoon was Syud Hossain of India, who gave his lecture "Eastern and Western Ideals, A Contrast and Comparison."

"We are all living in a time suitable for testing ideals," he said as he introduced his discussion of eastern and western life.

"Every eastern country from the Pacific to the Atlantic is a landmark in the history of civilization. The mutual ignorance among nations is a dangerous thing."

His plea was for spiritual unity and his talk of over an hour held his listeners fascinated.

There will be a club luncheon next Tuesday. Mrs. H. M. Hurd of the Florence Crittenden home will be one of the speakers. Her subject will be "Helping the Girl and Saving the Babies."

In the afternoon Myra Nye, well known Los Angeles newspaper woman will speak on "The Press Periscope Above the Federation Sea" and Ethel Elliott Swan will give a recital of "Mister Antonio."

Oxy Student Talks On Czecho-Slovakia

Joseph Roucek, Occidental student, has been appearing before many audiences during the last few weeks, lecturing on Czecho-Slovakia. He is a native of that country and gives interesting talks concerning this new nation, created as a result of the World War. Mr. Roucek is being sent to Occidental college by the Czecho-Slovakian government in order that he might study for diplomatic service and later return to his country and enter that service.

Elect Miss Gunn Head Occidental Y. W. C. A.

Miss Harriet Gunn was unanimously elected president of the Occidental Y. W. C. A., to succeed Miss Beth Dean, who graduates in June. Other oficers selected to represent the organization for the next year include: Ruth Gustafson, undergraduate representative; Alice Gates, vice-president; Esther Rideout, corresponding secretary; Elsie Thompson, recording secretary, and Laurette Wheat, treasurer.

Oratorio 'Elijah', Staged By Glendale Music Club, Proves Artistic Triumph

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Glendale proved her claim to musical fame and accomplishment last night, when she attracted recognition from musical circles in the southland for the brilliant production in the Broadway High school auditorium of Mendelssohn's oratorio masterpiece, "Elijah," directed by John Smallman, and given by the Glendale Music club.

It was a brilliant event because of its musical value and because of the community spirit it expressed, everything and everybody heartily co-operating to make the presentation a Glendale success.

Chorus Wins Praise

Of course the wonderful work of the chorus of 150 voices comes first in the accomplishment and highest honors should go to John Smallman, under whose talented direction the chorus was trained and the singing and orchestral accompaniment perfectly combined in the presentation last night.

Mr. Smallman needs no praise for he is known nation wide as a master director. Glendale was proud to claim him for one night and pay honor in his splendid work.

The text of the Oratorio "Elijah" is a mosaic of Biblical verses taken principally from the first book of Kings, the incidents being chosen from the life of the great prophet Elijah. Mendelssohn in his composition displays his unerring instinct for the dramatic, and it was this spirit that Mr. Smallman's well trained singers and orchestra brought out in their work last night.

Soloists Are Excellent

Each one of the assisting soloists is an artist of high degree, with much experience on the concert stage and in chorus singing. Fred McPherson sang the part of Elijah wonderfully, and the other three soloists doing equally as fine work were Monnie Hayes Hastings, soprano; Florence Middaugh, contralto, and Harold Proctor, tenor.

Mrs. Perry Rogers, pianist, is to be complimented on her finished work as accompanist.

The orchestral music was furnished by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

Of the 150 singers in the chorus, 65 were from Mr. Smallman's chorus in Los Angeles.

The auditorium of the new school was well filled for this initial oratorio production in Glendale and everyone, young and old, musically inclined and otherwise, was charmed by the great opening chorus, "Help, Lord!" and sat spellbound for over an hour during the dramatic rendition of the first part, which concludes with the picturesque episode in which the drought is broken and the people join in the magnificent chorus, "Thanks be to God!"

Artistry Shown

The first part is really the most dramatic and there was not a stir throughout the auditorium, save for the turning of program pages while the audience eagerly followed the text as sung by the chorus. Solo, duet, trio, quartet and ensemble numbers were each a finished part of the perfect whole.

The second part, while not as popular as the first is, in many respects, was quite as fine.

Last night the short trio in this part included Miss Elizabeth Mottern, talented Glendale soprano. In addition to the beauty of this short number it was of special interest, for Miss Mottern is the beneficiary of the Music club's scholarship fund, and all proceeds last night above expenses are to go to the fund that will enable Miss Mottern to take up further musical work.

Achieve Success

The production of "Elijah," said to be the most dramatic oratorio ever written, was a gigantic task and a courageous one. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, her officers and members gave freely of their time and money and by hearty co-operation from individuals and local organizations they achieved a success of which Glendale may well be proud.

Full returns from the ticket office were not available last night, but Mrs. Jones has called a special meeting for tonight and at that time full return will be made and announcement made as to the financial success of the project.

In expressing appreciation for the splendid support Glendale gave the production Mrs. Jones announced this morning that the oratorio section of the Music club will meet next Tuesday night to effect a permanent organization. Mr. Smallman will continue as director and work will be begun on the oratorio "Messiah," to be given at Christmas time.

Yale Gets Award for Architectural Merit

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 26.—Yale University now follows the University of Pennsylvania in possessing a gold medal awarded by the Societe des Architectes, diplomas par le Gouvernment Francais, "awarded to the architectural department of the American college or university having the best record of accomplishment in teaching architecture along lines followed by the school in Paris."

Pennsylvania, getting to medal in 1920, was one of the oldest architectural schools in the country as well as being the largest. Yale, second to receive the medal, is one of the youngest schools and not yet so very large.

Chester H. Aldrich, of Delano & Aldrich, New York, presented the medal. Dr. James Rowland Angell, Yale's president, received it to be turned over to Dean Everett V. Meeks, for deposit in the art school's collection.

TUJUNGA

DEFERS HEARING ON CITY MERGER

Special Election Question to Be Brought Up at Meeting Monday

A third postponement was made Monday morning by the county supervisors in the matter of calling an election to settle the incorporation question in the Tujunga district. The hearing will not be held until next Monday morning, owing to the absence of Supervisor Wright, who represents the district that includes Tujunga.

A large contingent of petitioners and other interested residents of Tujunga were on hand to present counter petitions to the original filed several weeks ago. The decision to call an election has been withheld by the supervisors due to the numerous protests made by people opposed to the move. The first hearing brought out vigorous protests from the Sunland territory, which was originally included in the plan to form a city of the sixth class under the name of City of Verdugo Hills. The second hearing produced strenuous opposition from residents in the northeast end of Tujunga and resulted in the revision of the proposed boundaries, eliminating all of Sunland and a large part of Tujunga's residential district, including the school, postoffice and several business houses.

Opposition Shown

The latest petition resulted from the drastic revision of the boundaries which were established in a great many cases to run through the middle of properties, leaving in some instances the house of the owner outside the city and his garage and woodpile inside, subject to city regulations in the event that the election carried. This aroused more opposition and the result was a petition asking the supervisors to cancel the whole thing and not call an election at all. There is some difference of opinion on the question of jurisdiction of the supervisors in doing this, as some of the petitioners have stated that the law requires the supervisors to call an election where a petition bearing fifty or more names of qualified voters is signed. The original petition bore nearly 100 names and some of them later withdrew, but the check showed that there were still over fifty names in good standing left.

Much confusion has been caused by the conflicting petitions and many of the interested residents and property owners believe that the issue is doomed to failure since the boundaries were reduced to such a small area, and that the only way to proceed is to call the election and let things take their natural course, assuming that the voters will vote the proposition down at the polls. Others who are in favor of the incorporation of a city of the sixth class hold that the boundaries should be made to include the strip eliminated by the action of the supervisors three weeks ago when they granted the requests of some antis.

Minimum Number

The antis point out as one of their arguments that only a small number of voters signed the petition. Those in favor of the move reply to this with the statement that it was intentional on the part of those who circulated the petitions to have only the required number of names to save time in checking when the papers were presented to the officials.

F. M. Ashby, Tujunga's first postmaster, who has only recently retired from that office, expressed his opinion that "Those of us who believe in incorporation believe in it thoroughly, and without any desire to unduly influence anybody we stand firmly upon the platform of local self-government and neighborhood co-operation and ask the supervisors and the people to consider without prejudice this question which so vitally concerns the people of this community. With all due respect to the supervisors it is not possible for them to devote that attention to local affairs that each locality demands."

With all interested factions considerably agitated over the outcome of the affair and the charges and counter charges that have been made, the hearing next Monday is expected to develop some interesting results. A large delegation will be present and arguments for and "forninst" are expected, with a possibility of some personalities being indulged in. Considerable personal feeling has been aroused between the opposing faction leaders and the meeting is expected to be interesting.

Among the Tujunga artists who are participating in the art exhibit this week in Glendale, which is under the auspices of the Glendale Art association in the furtherance of Art Week, are: Mrs. Nellie Horne; Laura Lee Sweet, on exhibit in Robinson's men's store, called "The Spirit of Modern Art Seeking the Ideal."

EXPECT DISTRICT WILL LEAD U. S. IN TAX FIGURES

Increase of 51 Per Cent in Income Returns Shown, Says Collector

Indicating that the Los Angeles internal revenue district will lead every collection unit in the United States in percentage of increase in income tax receipts, a report submitted to Washington yesterday by Collector Rex B. Goodcell disclosed a 51 per cent increase in total income tax collections for the period running from January 1 to March 21, compared with the corresponding period of 1923.

Collector Goodcell's survey showed that total receipts from income tax from January 1 to March 21 were $14,903,250.99, as against last year's figures of $9,862,958.93, an increase of $5,040,292.06, or 51 per cent.

Collections for the same period on current income returns (for 1923 income only) were $13,964,344.74, an increase of $4,397,206.81 or 46 per cent.

Total income receipts for the fiscal year beginning July 1 up to March 21 were $31,462,544.49, compared with $24,565,041.01 for the corresponding period of 1923, a gain of $6,897,503.48, or 28 per cent.

Remarkable Gain

"The gain of 46 per cent in collection of taxes on 1923 income is indeed a remarkable one when the fact is considered that the average tax paid on returns filed this year was one quarter or one half, while in 1923 the majority of the returns were paid in full. The small payments this year resulted from the contemplated reduction of 25 per cent in taxes on 1923 income. The increase is unquestionable evidence of phenomenal growth in population and business expansion in Southern California," said Collector Goodcell.

Some idea of Southern California's rapid rise as a producer of federal revenue is shown by the fact that in 1915 the total receipts from all classes of taxes was only $2,503,447, while for less than three months in 1923, the receipts from income taxes alone were $14,903,250.

GLAD TO ESCAPE WINTER WEATHER

J. S. Sankey Enjoys Glendale After Five Months In Old Iowa Home

Five months spent around his old home at Atlantic, Iowa, gave Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sankey, 312 East Harvard street, all the middle western winter weather they wanted, and they have been congratulating themselves ever since their return to Glendale last week that they are back in Southern California. They left for the east last October and have been renewing old friendships and revisiting old scenes during their eastern visit.

Farmers in the sections he visited, Mr. Sankey states, are now recovering from the financial difficulties that they experienced following the period of investment in high priced lands during the war, and he looks for a steady improvement in farming conditions throughout the middle west.

Wheat was selling at $1 a bushel and corn at 65 cents while he was in Iowa, he states.

Mr. and Mrs. Sankey have been residents of California for the past twelve years, much of which has been spent in Glendale.

Send Formal Call for Third Party Conclave

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 26.—Formal call for the proposed national farmer-labor-progressive convention for June 17 at St. Paul, indorsed by recent state conventions and conferences of third party advocates and expected to nominate Senator La Follette for president, was issued late yesterday over the signature of nine state and national political organizations.

This painting is the figure of a young woman with a palette in her hand and reaching up into the star-filled sky, with one foot just touching the point of a crescent moon. The colors are brilliant and the picture is full of life and color. Several other local artists are exhibiting their work in the Glendale store windows.

Martin Abarta of South Marshall street, Tujunga, was recently surprised with a party in celebration of his birthday at his home, "'Twill Do." Mrs. Abarta arranged the party and had a number of their friends gather during the absence of Mr. Abarta. The guests were all in costume and the evening was spent enjoying games, music and stunts, for which prizes were given. Among those present, beside Mr. and Mrs. Abarta, were: Mrs. Leila Page and John Kean, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Kennedy, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh James and children, Ellen and Harold; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feinstein, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Marple, Glendale; Mrs. A. L. Lesseman and daughters, the Misses Neenah and Jean Lesseman, Hollywood; Mrs. Mary Creager, Mr. and Mrs. Orley Segner, Tujunga.

LONG AND SHORT OF WHITE TOPS

Tallest Man and Small Pair Are Friends

"TEX," tallest man in the world, and a couple of his playmates with the Al G. Barnes Circus, pose for their picture outside the "big top."

Extremes in all things are not always welcome, but "Tex," reputed to be the tallest man in the world, who is one of the many feature attractions with the Al G. Barnes circus and wild animal show, coming to Glendale on Saturday, March 29, spends the most of his leisure hours playing with a couple of tiny folks, also with the circus.

"Tex" and the midgets are not the whole show, by any means, for there are over 2000 animals who perform, scores of acrobats, several hundred dancers, and attractions without end. One of the interesting attractions is Bombo, the educated leopard.

"When it's night time in Italy—it's just feeding time for me," hums this educated leopard, who never changes his spots—except when the dinner bell rings.

Bombo stands on his hind legs and hums sweetly, in the manner of a dog "talking," when his meal is withheld teasingly. Bombo, like many of his pals, rides zebras and performs "hair-raising stunts" in the arenas and rings of the big show. He'll be in one of the hundred cages in line when the Al G. Barnes two-mile street parade is seen circus day forenoon.

The greatest movie star of them all—Joe Martin, himself—will also be there, along with three tribes of Indians who form a part of the gigantic cast in the sensational feature: "Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne."

SUGGESTS CHANGE IN SCHOOL WORK

University Professor Tells Growth of Individual Industry Today

The City Teachers' club held the regular meeting for March at the Broadway school Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, presiding. Dr. M. J. Stormzand of the University of Southern California, was the speaker of the afternoon. His subject was "The Growth of Individual Instruction in the Public Schools."

"The public school system is fast heading toward individual instruction and all work of children and teachers must be modified," he said.

"Is it democratic to teach the masses? This involves social waste. Question and answer method involves a waste of time. The first step to be taken in individual instruction was the discovery of retardation which they tried to overcome by better attendance laws, more flexible grading, health inspection and other means. Another step was supervised study. The next step, intelligence tests; next step, establishment of special room.

"Individual attention to normal children has resulted in departmentalization, extension from high school downward of lateral extension of elective system, rapid expansion of courses, vocational education and the project method as an individualistic element. Much of the instruction trend has been unintentional, originally intended for something else. The great essentials are the discovery of individual needs, and adjustment of class room work to these individual needs."

Special musical numbers of the afternoon program were selections by the Glendale Trio, all of whom are recognized artists of ability. They are Mrs. Gertrud Erb, presiding at the piano; Arthur J. Meyers, cellist, and Julius Kranz, violinist. Numbers played were "Contretanz" (Gade), "Romance L'Eclaire" (Halevy), and "Extase" (Ganna), and were delightfully entertaining.

At the short business meeting Miss Ethel Chase of Wilson school, Miss June Hamill of Colorado school, and Miss Vera Sinclair of Grand View school were appointed to serve on the nominating committee and will bring in a report at the April meeting for the election of officers for the coming year.

STYLE TABLEAUX WILL BE STAGED

Pendroy's Store Will Display Fashion's Dictates at Showing Tonight

Pendroy's will offer to the public at 7:30 o'clock tonight, as their special entry in Glendale's "Spring Exposition," a beautiful style tableaux with living models, ranging from tiny tots in the latest kiddies' wear through children's sport and dress things to the most modish creations in women's evening gowns.

The tableaux will take place in the second floor annex, where a stage has been arranged in the form of a large gold frame, ten feet long, eight feet high and six feet deep, draped in the rear with black satin and hung in front with rich old rose velour curtains. Soft footlights and yellow and green floodlights to right and left will create an infinite variety of subdued hues to display effectively the many lovely costumes that will be shown.

Spring Comes First

The curtain will first rise on "Spring, 1924," a little girl 4 years old, dressed in pink tulle and surrounded by a bower of flowers. Tableaux will then follow on up from the nursery stage of childhood through boyhood, girlhood, and womanhood, displaying a great variety of garments, from sports wear to afternoon and evening gowns.

The models who will participate in the tableaux are Little Norma Lee Hadden, daughter of W. A. Hadden, Pendroy's expert window trimmer; little Betty Mink, Erma Smith and Carl Hanes, and Hilda Bernard, Mildred and Doris Osmun, Charlotte Busby, Hazel Thomson, Vivian Allspaugh and Mrs. Ruth Pendleton.

Music will be furnished by the following members of the Glendale Union High school orchestra: Beatrice Sutton, saxophone; Lillian Sutton, violin, and Leanore Rose, piano.

The windows at Pendroy's, trimmed by W. A. Hadden, in readiness for the prizes offered the public by the Glendale Shopping News, will present a striking appearance when they are unveiled at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The Brand boulevard windows have a background of arched panels in gold and green, with oblong shaped polychrome parchment lanterns on either side, and in front a futuristic apple tree in blossom effect. One window shows black and white evening gowns and the other depicts women's sport wear. The windows will also contain photographs of the models taking part in the style tableaux, and the

MOTION PICTURE MACHINE TO BE USED BY CHURCH

Sunday Evening Services at First Congregational Will Be Changed

A progressive step in religious activity has been taken by the First Congregational church in the purchase of a motion picture machine, to be used in connection with the Sunday evening services.

"It is not our intention to turn our Sunday evening services into a motion picture show," states Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor, "but it is apparent to the officers of our church that the people will not attend a service in the evening which is of the same nature as that of the morning.

"Perhaps there is no necessity for holding two similar services the same day. For this reason we are planning a service of a little different type, at one which will be no less religious in its purpose and motive. Of course, we want to do good and we hope to reach a large number of people.

First Time Here

"It will be a devotional service of hymns, special music, prayer and scripture. Added to this will be a picture which will illustrate the truth presented. We will make the attempt to make morality and religion interesting and vital."

This move on the part of the Congregationalists is an innovation in Glendale church life and is destined to meet with much favor from church-going people. Many churches in larger cities use the motion picture in their church services, particularly evening services, and the announcement coming from Mr. Calderwood is indicative of the progressive spirit of his church organization.

The picture to be shown next Sunday night will be "A Woman There Was." On Sunday night, April 6, the picture will be "And a Little Child Shall Lead Them."

MANY INITIATIVE MEASURES LIKELY

2 Constitutional Amendments and Bond Issue Also Proposed, Report

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—Eleven initiative measures, two constitutional amendments and a bond act will be on the ballot at the next general election, according to Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

It is quite probable that the number of initiatives will be increased, since proponents of an initiative have until August 5 to file their petitions, carrying the signatures of 77,263 voters.

Petitions are about to be circulated for signatures to initiative enactments as follows:

Franchise measure, providing that the state railroad commission shall have exclusive power to grant franchises, determinate or indeterminate, for motor vehicle transportation for compensation upon streets and highways. This authority to extend to interurban and suburban railways.

Ten Round Boxing

An initiative measure to increase the number of signatures necessary to secure an initiative measure a place on the ballot.

Boxing measure legalizing ten-round glove contests.

Water and power act initiative petition, reviving the initiative of 1922 and authorizing issuance of $500,000,000 bonds by a state board to develop and distribute water and hydro-electric energy as a function of the state.

Single tax initiative.

Anti-vivisection measure.

Measure to tax publicly owned utilities for the purpose of subjecting utilities, municipal, county, district or otherwise, to the same taxation as is paid by utilities owned by private parties or corporations.

Measure providing that publicly owned public utilities shall be under the supervision of the state railroad commission.

Initiative sponsored by the state fish and game commission and providing to make certain swamp lands bordering the Klamath river a state-protected fish and game preserve.

Fish and game measure providing that all moneys collected by the state fish and game commission shall be expended solely by that commission.

Petitions are out providing that foreign fire insurance companies shall pay a 2 per cent tax, which shall be apportioned among municipalities, to be devoted to payment of pensions for retired firemen.

Two Amendments

The proposed constitutional amendments are:

Taxation amendment provides that a public utility paying state taxes may deduct from gross receipts any amount it pays to another public utility, when the sum deducted is included in the gross receipts upon which taxes for the latter public utility are apportioned.

Municipal public works act, which empowers several municipalities to acquire or control, by contract, public works for supplying residents with light, water, power, heat, transportation or other utility service. This measure would particularly apply to San Francisco's proposed

Community Players to Give Scholarships to Six Local Students

Glendale boys and girls who are interested in studying expression, elocution and public speaking, are offered a splendid opportunity by the Glendale Community Players, who announce they are to offer six free scholarships in these subjects to Glendale boys and girls.

The Players believe that such training in the spoken word is essential to the education of those who would make a success of their lives, so they are making it possible for six Glendale children to undertake this study.

The time and place for the selection of the six children will be announced at an early date.

Children or their parents interested are asked to apply by seeing Mrs. Adalene Bradley at 131½ North Brand boulevard, day phone Glendale 44, and at night Glendale 308-W.

WORLD PAINTINGS ON DISPLAY HERE

Carlotta V. Phillipps Has Numerous Pictures at Her Studio Home

One of the most delightful places to visit during this week, designated by Glendale artists as "Open House Week" is the attractive studio home of Carlotta V. Phillipps at 439 West Lexington drive.

Mrs. Phillipps' special medium is oil and she has exhibited in her home this week fifty of her paintings done in the United States and foreign parts.

Her travels have taken her to all parts of the world and now she is displaying pictures she made while journeying, for people in Glendale, where she proudly says she has lived for over twenty years.

Perfect Blends

Mrs. Phillipps' color expression is most pleasing and whether it be a copy of one of the old masters or a California landscape she seems to have blended the colors perfectly into her artistic conception of the subject.

She has just opened the Glendale School of Art and Design and has arranged her home into a most charming studio school for herself and her pupils.

She will open her home Friday, Saturday and Sunday for all those interested in seeing her exhibit.

WILL ISSUE NEW PHONE DIRECTORY

Changes in System Render Present Book Useless After March 29

"The present or January Los Angeles county telephone directory will be superseded on March 30 by a red covered book bearing that date. Do not use the old directories after March 30.

"Due to the enormous number of books to be printed and delivered—340,000, or 650 tons of them—it will be impossible to complete distribution in one day."

This was the message today of Fred Deal, local manager of the telephone company, to the people of Glendale.

"You should destroy the old directory," he said, "as soon as the new one is received."

Obsolete March 29

The Los Angeles county directories now in the hands of subscribers will be obsolete after midnight, March 29, because the new simplified method of operation will go into effect then. A call to Los Angeles using one of the old numbers after that date will result in service interference, according to Manager Deal.

So, before placing any call to Los Angeles after March 30, if one of the new directories is not at hand, the Glendale user should call "Information" and make sure of the proper number.

The new method of operation in Los Angeles was necessary, said Manager Deal, because of the growth of the city, which is comparable to the growth of all Southern California cities. Just as Los Angeles is becoming a true metropolis, the Los Angeles telephone system must be put on a metropolitan basis.

New Equipment

"Los Angeles and all Southern California points are presenting a great problem of telephone growth," Manager Deal said. "One of the mileposts in this year's expansion program in that city will have been reached on midnight, March 29, when the big cut-over to the simplified method of operation will put into service apparains that has cost $1,300,000 and the new March 30—red covered —directory will go into use. Because of these changes Glendale people should not fail to call 'Information' and make sure of their number before placing a telephone call to Los Angeles on March 30, and later. This should be done in every case until the March 30 directory is made available, and thereafter the new book should be used."

The new simplified method of operation in Los Angeles permits all subscribers using machine switching telephones to dial all numbers, whether machine switching or manual. To make the new method operative, it has been necessary to assign office names to practically all machine switching numbers and to capitalize the first two letters of all office names to indicate that they are to be dialed as a part of the telephone number.

U. P. WILL HONOR PIONEER PRIEST

Name of Father Escalante Is Chosen As Title of Utah Hostelry

Honor will be paid to the memory and bravery of the first white man who penetrated the then unknown inter-mountain region of Utah, when the Union Pacific system formally opens its magnificent new tourist hotel, El Escalante, at Cedar City, Utah, next Saturday. Many prominent business men of Southern California and railroad officials will attend the opening of the new hotel which is the first of a series of great tourist hotels to be completed by the Union Pacific in southwestern Utah in the region known as "Utah's Scenic Wonderland."

El Escalanto hotel has been named after Father Sylvester Velez de Escalante, a Spanish padre who set out to discover an overland route from Santa Fe to the new capital of California at Monterey. He set forth in 1776 with an expedition and, after many hardships, finally discovered a route into the "Great Basin" country. Continuing his way down the valleys he finally arrived at a point near Cedar City but, owing to the extreme hardships undergone, the men were unable to continue further. The great valley which marked the furthermost point of his expedition of discovery was named Escalante Valley and the naming of the new tourist hotel in his honor will further perpetuate his name. While he did not succeed in completing the first overland trip to California, the news he took back to Santa Fe started other hardy pioneers who years later discovered a natural route across the mountains to Southern California, the present route of the Union Pacific system.

Recall Early Days

In casting about for a name for the new hotel officials of the Union Pacific decided it would be a fitting tribute to name it after Father Escalante. And in keeping with the name the fittings and decorations of the hotel will be a constant reminder of the discoverer of that region. The new hotel is of picturesque design and is absolutely fireproof, even to the furniture and fixtures which are all made of metal.

El Escalante will be the starting point for all tourists over the Union Pacific to the great scenic attractions of Southern Utah including Zion National park, Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks, Kaibab Forest and the North Rim of Grand Canyon. It will also accommodate the large motor tourist traffic over the Arrowhead Trail to and from Southern California and the east. It is expected El Escalanta will soon be famous as one of the notable tourist hotels of the west. It will be operated by the Hotel and Dining Car department of the Union Pacific system. The entire furnishings of the new hotel were purchased in Southern California, and, according to C. A. Redmond of the Union Pacific, the new hotel will soon be a popular headquarters for Southern Californians as the scenery in Southwestern Utah is among the finest in the world.

SUPERSTITION vs OIL FACTS

Is it bad luck to break a mirror? No, that's just a superstition. And the current belief that "eastern" oil is in some mysterious way "better" is another. When you pay a fancy price for "eastern" you are paying just so much needless tribute to unwarranted prejudice.

The Best Crude Is Western Crude

As a matter of fact, the most suitable crude for the production of motor oil is Western Naphthenic Base Crude, obtained from Pacific Coast wells. And the most advanced and efficient refining process yet developed is the high-vacuum process, the patents on which are owned by this Company.

You can drain and refill your crankcase every 500 miles—which is good practice regardless of the kind of oil used, as any automobile manufacturer will tell you — and still save money if you use Zerolene. And your car will get better continuous lubrication, as proved by your increased gasoline mileage, smoother operation, and reduced carbon deposits.

Better Gasoline Mileage — Less Carbon

Extended tests conducted by this Company in the laboratory and on the road show that the Zerolene-lubricated car averages about 5% better gasoline mileage than when other oils are used. Carbon deposits are also less, chiefly because of the selected western crude from which Zerolene is made.

Insist on Zerolene even if it does cost less.

FICTION WRITER'S AUTO IS STUDIO

Motors Around in Search of Local Color; Writes as Mood Strikes Him

That the latest wrinkle in autodom is the motorization of fiction writing and that Glendale and the Verdugo hills have been the birthplaces of many thrilling short stories, novelettes and other current magazine literature, was the news received this week by the Nash Sales company from Robert S. Breyer, of Los Angeles, vice-president and general manager of the Troy Motor Sales company, Nash and Lafayette distributors for Southern California, Arizona and Southern Nevada.

Johnston McCulley, celebrated author of "Saddle Mates," "The Black Jarl," and other popular fiction stories, together with many novel screen plays, is a devotee of Lafayette and Nash cars, according to the word received from Troy headquarters. Instead of having any one certain city or town as his home, he motors here and therein search of inspiration and there in search of inspiration roadster.

With a small, noiseless typewriter of the "transportable" variety, a supply of "Mss." paper and a camp chair, the author avers that he needs no more studio furniture. His running board is his desk, and the great, open dome of the sunny southland gives him all the inspiration he needs to woo the muse.

Sense of Freedom

"Aside from whatever glory, self-satisfaction and money there may be in fiction writing," Mr. McCulley was quoted as having told newspaper representatives, "there is that wonderful sense of freedom in being able to live where one pleases. And with a Lafayette or Nash, there is no reason why any writer of adventure stories should move away from this section, for right at one's door lies all the local color one could wish for."

Mr. McCulley admits that in his latest novel he wrote the yarn in three states and a dozen cities, doing the introduction in Arizona, the dramatic adventure stuff in Southern Nevada and writing the conclusion in Glendale and various other cities and towns through which he "Nashed" while engaged in its composition.

Ramparts in ancient times were built of sharpened stakes or felled trees in the manner of the use of barbed wire in modern warfare.

PAPER TELLS OF LINCOLN'S DEATH

Civil War Veteran Cherishes New York Herald with Story of Murder

The approach of the anniversary of the assassination of President Lincoln has brought to light a carefully preserved copy of the New York Herald, dated Saturday, April 15, 1865, the date of the murder of the great emancipator, which is now in the possession of Charles I. Peirce, 328 West Elk avenue. The ancient Herald contains a full account of the attack on Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth and the bulletins that were sent out at brief intervals from the White House until the final message came that Lincoln had succumbed to his injuries.

Mr. Peirce served with company A of the 23rd Massachusetts infantry for over two years of the war, receiving his discharge when his injuries incapacitated him for further service.

Other relics that Mr. Peirce cherishes highly are a few tattered scraps of his old regimental flag, the banner of the 23rd Massachusetts, but he has taken a few strands of the revered flag to present to the son of one of his old comrades in arms, now of Alhambra, but whom he met here in Glendale, where Mr. Peirce has lived for the past nine years. He is the father of Theodore Peirce, 317 Vine street, general manager of the Pacific Desk company of Los Angeles.

Lenten Services at St. Mark's Thursday

Special lenten service is to be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at St. Mark's Episcopal church at the corner of South Louise and East Harvard streets. It will be the fourth in a series of special meetings.

Rev. C. Rankin Barnes, director of St. James' church in South Pasadena will speak.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a service of Holy Communion.

The service planned for Wednesday afternoon has been omitted.

Fathers, Sons, Strengthen Bonds At Annual Banquet Staged By Glendale Hi-Y

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Staid business men forgot the cares and worries of their offices, years flitted gayly by for men whose hairs were becoming tinged with gray, and boys got a new insight into life last night at the annual Father and Son banquet given under the auspices of the Glendale Hi-Y club at the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Preparations had been made for 500 guests, but when the chairs around the long tables were filled it was found that nearly 200 more than had been provided for were in attendance. The banquet drew more guests last night than any previous banquet held by the club.

Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., who had charge of getting the guests seated in the big dining room of the church, succeeded in finding additional chairs for the extra number, while a part of the celebration took on the aspect of a buffet luncheon later in the evening.

Fatherless Boys

The Hi-Y club and the Y. M. C. A. provided 131 fatherless boys for the banquet, whose wants were looked after by members of the three civic clubs and fathers who had no sons. There were more demands for fatherless boys last night than could be filled, and in some instances one son with two "fathers" could be found.

Members of the Kiwanis club took care of forty-two youngsters from the Strickland home, bringing them to the church in automobiles provided by the club. Kiwanis paper hats, tops, balloons and candy were given the youths by the club members. Ed Radke had charge of the event for the Kiwanis club.

Thirty fatherless boys were cared for by the members of the Exchange club, with President R. E. Johnston and W. H. Daniel in charge. The Rotary club, with President George B. Karr at the head of the table, played "father" to thirty boys. The emblems of each club were on their respective tables.

White Leads Singing

David Black, chairman of the executive committee of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., acted as chairman for the evening. He introduced H. R. White, executive secretary of the Presbyterian church, who led the singing in the place of Fred Dye of Hollywood, who was unable to attend on account of illness.

Arlin McCormick, a member of the Hi-Y club, gave the invocation. Music was furnished by the members of the Hi-Y orchestra, composed of Kenneth Bartlett, 329 Milford street, drums; Harold Jones, 1385 East Colorado boulevard, saxophone; Normal Nelson, 1328 North Columbus street, saxophone, and Harry Grace, 310 Hawthorne street, piano. Everett L. Anderson of Montrose was accompanist of the evening.

Chairman Black, in introducing the toastmaster for the evening, Theodore Haig, former president of the Hi-Y club, said there are thirty Hi-Y clubs in Glendale and vicinity, with 415 members and workers.

Merriam Is Speaker

Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, speaker of the house of the California legislature, was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Frank C. Weller of Glendale, assemblyman from the Sixty-first district, who told of some of Mr. Merriam's activities in legislature, and the regard in which he was held by all assemblymen.

"Parents today are too busy gaining wealth or social position to look after the needs of their sons," Mr. Merriam said. "Men are not the pals of the boys in their communities, let alone the pals of their own sons. This lack of interest on the part of fathers leads the sons to seek companions elsewhere, and their search invariably leads them into paths of crime.

"Make the work of tonight the work of days to come. Show the interest in the boys that you have displayed tonight on every night of the coming year, and on every day. The only fault I find with these father-and-son banquets is that they do not come often enough. Men, be pals with your boys. Boys, be pals to your dads. With such a combination, the [illegible] cannot help but grow better."

Need for Religion

There is a great need for religion in the everyday life of the boy today, C. W. Ingledue told the guests, in his address on "Our Boys." He cited facts and figures given by judges of juvenile courts showing the average age of criminals has been lowered within the last ten years, he said, while the churches have only doubled. He pleaded for the men to show more interest in the boys, to get them into the church and into the Y. M. C. A.

Art Foster of 1215 Stanley avenue, kept the boys, both young and old, laughing for fifteen minutes as he told numerous dialect stories. His stories provided the biggest laugh of the evening. Jerry Osier, president of the Junior Hi-Y club, told of the 1923 summer camp, and described the various routine duties, sports and good times the boys had.

Speak On Dads

Two boys spoke on "Dads," Bill Gray of 533 North Isabel street, representing the Fremont Pioneers, and Arden Gingery of 157½ South Central avenue, of the Hi-Y club. Rev. W. E. Edmonds pronounced the benediction.

Girls of the Christian Endeavor society of the church did the serving at the banquet. Mrs. L. A. Hart was in charge of the waitresses, and Mrs. James Newton was in charge of the kitchen. The fatherless boys were provided by Robert Hatch, and the decorations were in charge of Charles Thompson, Richard Rhyne and Lee Payne.

The table decorations consisted of large sunflowers for centerpieces, and orange ribbons. California poppies were provided for all the fathers, while sunflowers were provided for the boys.

Southern California

Air Route to Big Bear

ONTARIO, March 26.—Prospects of a passenger air route between this city and Big Bear valley for the coming season appear excellent, a franchise having been granted W. D. Waterman and his associates to undertake flights on a commercial scale. If successful, such a route will do much to popularize a great and wonderful section of Southern California, long accessible to the majority of people. A landing field in the valley is now being put in shape and flights may be expected to start within six weeks, according to Mr. Waterman.

Plan Honeymoon in Arctic

PASADENA, March 26.—Harold Noice, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Noice of 168 Chestnut street, will leave New York City this spring for the Arctic with his bride, who was Miss Frances Allison of Englewood, New Jersey. There, in the land of the midnight sun, according to his father, the daring young explorer and his wife will spend a honeymoon whose rigors would daunt the average girl of today. The Noice party, which will include a crew of eight men, will board their vessel, which has been christened the Frances, in New York, and will journey through the Panama Canal. On the way up the Pacific coast, they will put in at Los Angeles for a brief visit with Mr. Noice's parents. Then they will continue up the coast, through Behring Straits, past Point Barrow on the northern coast of Alaska, then through Coronation Gulf which divides the Canadian mainland from Victoria Land, which Captain Noice christened on a previous expedition, and then on to King William Island, which will be their winter headquarters.

To Build Big Monastery

SIERRA MADRE, March 26.—The Passionist Fathers have purchased for $100,000 the famous Mount Tera springs tract and will erect thereon a magnificent monastery, to be the headquarters of their western province. The estate was once the home of Lyman Gage, former secretary of the interior.

The full name of the order which will erect the new monastery is the Congregation of Discalced Clerks of the Most Holy Cross and Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ. It was founded by Paul Francis Danei, later known as St. Paul of the Cross, who was ordained in 1727. The order has extensive establishments in the east, and in Europe.

Carnival May Not Be Held

ALHAMBRA, March 26.—The annual business men's carnival, an institution of four years' standing, may not be held this year, the sentiment of the board of directors at their meeting being that a postponement for at least a year would be advisable because of the presidential election.

It was finally decided to place the matter before the entire membership of the association for a vote. This ballot will be taken by mail within the next few days, according to Secretary J. B. Scullin.

On Tour of South Pacific

SAN PEDRO, March 26.—Dr. Wilton McCarthy, noted scientist, has embarked with a party of other scientists for a three months' tour of the South Pacific ocean, to study submarine life. Specimens and data acquired will be given to the Field Museum of Chicago. Tiburon Islands, off the coast of Mexico, will be the first stop of the expedition.

Community Hotel Planned

MONROVIA, March 26.—This city has joined the ranks of the community hotel builders, a $330,000 hostelry being "over the top" financially, reports R. T. Radford, chairman of the executive committee. The hotel will have thirty guest rooms and twenty-five apartments, eight stores, a big dining room, patio, assembly room and will be of the Aztec architecture, something unique in the history of Southern California.

Banker Hurls Self in Front of Car, Is Dead

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Morris W. Stroud, Jr., 36, president of the banking concern of Stroud & Co., committed suicide by throwing himself in front of an electric car at Villa Nova, a suburb. The banker, it was said, suffered from a nervous breakdown over a week ago.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Caolries

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—I see you offer a pamphlet of reducing so I am inclosing four cents in stamps for same because if anyone ever needed to lose weight I am that one. I need to lose 50 pounds but I know it will be mighty hard work as it has been accumulating for some years. I am one of those chuckle necked females with a fat back, 42 bust and well padded hips. But my arms! They are the bane of my existence. The flesh on the upper arms is not the solid, firm flesh, but the flabby kind that shakes and shimmies. Can you tell me of anything that I can do to get my arms and bust and back down to normal? It is only fair to say that I am very fond of candy.—K."

I could have told you you were when you acknowledged 50 lbs. very fond of candy (or somethin') overweight. Your arms, bust and back will get down to normal when you have reduced that excess 50 pounds. But I'm afraid you are going to be disappointed in your expectation of receiving that pamphlet! According to your letter, you did not enclose a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope with your stamps and the office has had to rule that no material can be sent out unless that is done, because it would require an extra office force to address the envelopes of the hundreds of letters I receive every mail. Will youtry again, observing the rules?

Miss D.:—I think when you get down to normal, your legs will reduce. They can't help going down some! The shape of the legs does seem to be another of those inherited characteristics. Try deep massage and lots of brisk walking and dancing.

Mrs. F.:—Send for my article "It Won't Be Any Easier Tomorrow." That will help you get started to diet. But don't wait for [illegible] article. Just think of the title.

[illegible]—Excessive flow of perspiration is known as hyperidrosis. Those who are overweight and those who are underweight and anemic are more apt to be affected. These conditions have to be corrected before excessive perspiration ceases.

For local treatment for the feet [illegible] made of one ounce of formalin to one quart of water [illegible] after bathing the feet, at night, later two or three times a week, is effective. This solution can be used on the hands and under the arms—best, perhaps, diluted a little with more water. Other remedies are solutions of boric acid, one rounding teaspoonful to a cup of hot water; a solution of salicylic acid, one-fourth of an ounce to the cup of water.

If your eyes are red and inflamed you had better see an oculist. You may need glasses or there may be some inflammatory condition which requires special attention. EYE WASH—A simple home wash is boracic acid solution—one level teaspoonful to the cup of boiling water. You can get the boracic said in crystal or powder form. If you use the powder put just a tiny bit of water with it and mix until smooth, then add the rest of the water. The crystal will dissolve easily.

Mrs. F.:—You will simply have to persist in eating a little more than you want every day until you get enough in your system so that there will be a little excess to store away as fat. Apparently it is just as hard for you thin 'uns to eat more than you want as it is for us fat 'uns to eat less than we want. Have you our pamphlet on "How to Gain"? If not, send for that.

In general, increase particularly your milk, whole wheat bread, egg wolks and cream, and have a liberal supply of green leaf vegetables and fruits for the vitamines and minerals and their help in constipation. Rest more than you are doing and sleep more.

Nothing can be done about the prominent Adam's apple on the boy's neck. As he grows his neck will fill out and it will not be so noticeable.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Several young housekeepers have written to ask for directions for baking bread. The following recipe will bring excellent results if accurately followed:

To Bake Two Loaves of White Bread—Put one cup of hot, sweet milk into a good-sized bowl and add to it one cup of hot water and one tablespoon of beef drippings. Let this mixture cool to the tepid stage, then add one-half cake of compressed yeast which has been previously dissolved in an extra half-cup of lukewarm water. Also add one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of granulated sugar. Stir till the sugar is dissolved, and mix to a stiff batter by stirring in six and one-half cups of flour.

You now have your bread mixed. The next step is to turn it out onto a slightly-floured bread board and knead it for ten minutes. It should be quite elastic at the end of this period of kneading; place it back in the bowl, cover with clean dish-towels, and set in a warm place to rise overnight (it is a good plan to mix the bread around 8 o'clock in the evening).

Next morning you will find it double in bulk. Turn it out once more onto a floured bread board and, with a sharp knife, cut it into equal halves. Form each half into loaf-shape with as little kneading as possible. Place each loaf in a bread pan greased with olive oil, and again set in a warm place, covered, to rise.

But this time care must be taken not to let the bread rise too much. Bread that has been allowed to rise too high results in a loaf which is flat across the top, instead of rounded. When it is about two-thirds doubled in bulk, from rising, slip it into a moderate oven, to bake from 45 to 55 minutes.

Bread is done when it shrinks away from the sides of the pan. Lower the oven heat slightly at the very end of the baking period. All the rest of the time have the heat near 375 degrees Fahrenheit if you use an oven thermometer—a "medium" oven.

Often the size of the pan is a result of bread-baking failures. My pans are three inches deep, seven and one-half inches long and four and one-quarter inches wide.

Tomorrow—Some New Fancy-work Ideas.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. DIVORCEE IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

Tells Weird Story Of Suicide Pact In Car

Mrs. Belle Brown Overbeck Gaertner

Chicago's latest murder sensation is the Gaertner case. Mrs. Belle Brown Overbeck Gaertner, twice a divorcee, was arrested by police after Robert Law, automobile salesman, was found shot to death in her automobile. She told police a weird story of the two of them, drunk, deciding to take turn shooting at each other to determine who was the better shot. After one was killed the other was to commit suicide. They flipped a coin for the first shot, she said. She didn't remember what followed.

Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mme. Semenova is one of thirty-seven women members of the soviets of the Russian union with full voting powers. Thirty-five other women delegates merely have consultive voice but no vote. The congress of soviets has a total of 3,000 members. Mme. Semenova represents the Chuwash republic.

Mme. Semenova

The old tub churn, formerly an indispensible part of every rural home equipment, is passing. Twenty-five years ago farm women in this country manufactured 1,071,745,127 pounds of butter each year. Last year they produced but a small fraction of this amount, while the creameries turned out 1,200,000,000 pounds. The farmers' wives are learning that they can sell the cream for practically as much as the butter and are saved the labor of churning.

The freer life of the modern self-supporting woman, sex solidarity and suffrage are given as the reasons for the increasing number of buildings being fitted for women's club rooms. Many women live in hotels, boarding houses and light housekeeping rooms where they have no way of entertaining men friends. No one can look askance at a woman's inviting a man to dine at a club, therefore the business woman joins a club and entertains there. Good food at modest prices is the rule in the clubs, and as the majority of the members are not particularly affluent, this makes a real appeal. Also the non-tipping rule is strictly observed.

Kentucky is famed for its beautiful women—also for its "moonshine." Since prohibition has come into effect the blue grass state has developed record breaking feminine dry agents. Miss Bessie Winton and her helpers, Alice Henry and Mathilda Scott, have brought a number of "big cases" into court. In this country, back in the Kentucky mountains, where firearms are the law, these girls go unarmed. They use smiles for weapons and they seem to be effective.

Miss Anne Nichols

To be the author of a play so popular that it has a New York run of 90 weeks, with seven road companies out all playing to packed houses, is a record that few men and fewer women achieve. Miss Anne Nichols, of New York, is the author of "Abie's Irish Rose," which has won this phenomenal success. The box office receipts are said to have gone above the million dollar mark.

ANNE NICHOLS

Miss Sophia Delevan Cowles is president of the Women's Association of Commerce of Chicago. She was the only woman delegate to the recent United States Chamber of Commerce convention held in that city.

Miss Cowles was the woman who insisted that Mabel Normand, the movie star, should be given a hearing in the case of the sensational shooting affair in which her name was mentioned before judgment was passed on her by other women.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

A CHAT ON WHITE HAIR

If you dread the coming of white hairs, let me tell you the story of a woman whom we will call Mrs. Graham, though that is not her real name. Mrs. Graham had been an unattractive girl, and as she grew old she became still less attractive with her pale complexion and her light-colored, nondescript hair. She had rather fine, dark eyes, but no one paid much attention to them. No one paid much attention to her anyway, and least of all her own husband. She dreaded the approach of elderliness and dyed the white hairs as they appeared. The result, as usual, made her still homelier.

Her husband's death and a period of illness and trouble brought her back to her old home with her hair snow white. She was too discouraged with life to try to darken it. And then suddenly she found herself spoken of as an exceedingly attractive woman, for the white hair gave prominence and beauty to her dark eyes, and her pale skin, a clear pallor now as a result of her illness, went very well with her white locks. Mrs. Graham, as a widow who acknowledge herself 50 years old, began to receive all the attention which, as a young girl and a young wife, she could never command.

Some of it, perhaps, was because she took care of her white hair, washing it every six weeks with castile soap and warm water, and between each one of these shampoos giving it a good washing with half alcohol and half water. She kept it in this way a lustrous, silvery white without a tinge of yellow. She also used the slightest amount of blueing in the rinse water—not enough to hurt the health of her hair, merely enough to keep it silvery. And as she had stopped using dyes, her hair came in with its original thickness.

The last I heard of Mrs. Graham she had married one of the most sought-after widowers, a man who had never looked at her when she was young and unattractive.

Trace the cause and effect the cure this way. Try agar agar for a time to clear the digestive tract. If bran agrees with you try this occasionally as a breakfast cereal and eat as much fruit as you need to keep your system regulated.

White Hair Needs Much More Care Than Dark

Margaret S.:—Jack W. T.:—A. C. B.:—Pimples come from impurities in the system, often caused through poor elimination. Distressed Mother:—You should have the doctor treat you for the liver spots, as there must be a condition that should be corrected internally, or you would not find them spreading over so much of your skin. You would injure your skin to bleach it as much as you suggest, while treating the cause will be the sure and the healthy way to rid yourself of the trouble.

Tomorrow—Plastic Surgery

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fourteen years old and in the eighth grade. I am the only girl at home, but have a brother four years older than I who is very cross to me. My parents are always scolding or slapping me when they don't have any reason for doing it.

I wash the dishes every night with my mother and also help her with the rest of the work, and I do everything I can to please her, but still she insists upon slapping and scolding me for nothing. Sometimes my parents make me so unhappy that I could put an end to my life that instant.

I have a few boy friends, but I am not allowed to speak to them. There is one boy who is very polite and I like him very much. One day our neighbor saw me talking to this boy. Just as soon as he got a chance he told my mother. This made me very angry, for she scolded me as usual and also slapped me. She also said that if she caught me talking to him again she was going to send me away. Do you think she is treating me right? I haven't done a thing that could have caused her to say such a thing. I am getting discouraged by always being scolded and slapped like this, and not even being permitted to talk to a single boy friend.

Please give me your advice as to what I should do. I will not stand this very much longer.

LONESOME BLUES.

At the age of fourteen you are very young to have "boy friends," and I can see that your mother would object to your standing talking to a boy. To slap you for it, and talk as if you were bad, is not the kind of treatment you should have, however, because it only fills your heart with resentment and hatred. I believe your mother is trying to discipline you as best she knows how. She slaps you because she thinks that will make you mind. Of course you resent such treatment, but there is little you can do except try to please wour mother and the rest of the family. You are learning a valuable lesson and when you are a mother you will be able to profit by your own sad experience and suffering. One of the pitible things in life is that so many children are misunderstood and mistreated. Try to keep your heart full of love so that when you are old enough to be free your life will not be spoiled by bitterness and resentment.

SHORT NOTICE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been engaged to a young man for six months. We intended to marry next June and in the meantime I was going on with my work. Now my fiancee has had a business promotion and he wants me to marry him right away. I am not ready to do so yet because I haven't half the things ready in my hope chest. He says he doesn't care. but I am proud about the matter and can't bear the thought of marrwing unless I am prepared.

Before he takes over the new work he is going to have two weeks vacation and he wants to take that time for our honeymoon. I hate to disappoint him, but I do feel that he is unreasonable in wanting t marry on such short notice.

What would you advise in a case like this? LOLA.

Clothes and articles in a hope chest mean so little to most men, that I would advise you to hasten your plans and marry earlier than you intended. June is not so far away, and since you expected to marry so soon anyway, please your fiancee in the matter.

Japanese give a fan as a New Year gift, it being an emblem of life that widens just as the sticks radiate from the rivet.

Who's Who

RADIO STILL IN ITS INFANCY, SAYS DE FOREST

"To look far ahead in the development of the radio is impossible," said Dr. Lee De Forest, foremost contributor to radio science, recently. "It would be pure guesswork. Eventually radio will make us all one people — the final achievement of the dream of the brotherhood of man. It is easier to predict what is going to happen within the next few years—the next twenty-five years, anyhow.

DR. DE FOREST

"It won't be so very long now before a man living in an apartment in New York can hear the opera in Paris or Buenos Aires—and hear it perfectly—just as he can now hear the opera stars whose voices are broadcast from stations in the city. The whole world will be knit together.

"Broadcasting in its present stage is only a very dim forecast of what is coming later. To say that radio is in its infancy is to put it mildly. What we have now is just a small beginning—a suggestion.

"The present quality of radio, both in tone and quality of programs, is disappointing, and a radio set is just a sort of toy. Soon we will have compound tuning on sets that are worked like the combination to a safe. The dial may be set on a fundamental porgram, for example, the musical program. Then another dial may be set on subtones, and you can pick out the individual piece of music you want. Or you may set the first dial on an educational program and then use the other dial to pick out the particular lecture you want.

"Soon we will get all local broadcasting through the electric wiring and the air will be left free for long distance sending. It is easy enough to point out to these things, but tol ook much further into the future you have only to dream."

Dinner Stories

A bright-eyed old man boarded the train at St. Paul, bound for Seattle. Perhaps it was Minneapolis where he boarded it, but it doesn't matter. Anyway, as the conductor passed through the car the old man stopped him and asked how far it was from St. Paul to Seattle.

"Sixteen hundred and twenty miles," the official answered curtly.

The next time the conductor came along the old man stopped him again and asked him how far it was from Seattle to S[illegible]

"See here, my man," the conductor responded pompously, "it's sixteen hundred and twenty miles from St. Paul to Seattle and sixteen hundred and twenty miles from Seattle to St. Paul—do you understand?"

"Maybe so," said the cross-examiner, without raising his voice. "I didn't know. You see, it's only seven days from Christmas to New Year's, but it's a long time from New Year's to Christmas."

Auto tourists see so much on the way that it requires something out of the ordinary to interest them, says a prize story in Judge. A tourist in a rural district was impressed by the more dead-than-alive character of the country, where houses were few and dilapidated, and inhabitants but infrequently seen. He at last found a native leaning lazily over a fence and regarding the stranger with a glimmer of interest.

"Not much going on around here, is there?" the tourist asked.

"Nope," replied the native. "Nuthin' but the interest on the mortgages."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Deaths due to automobile accidents reached a total in excess of 1364 in California in 1923, according to figures just announced by L. E. Ross, state registrar of vital statistics.

Delayed reports from several counties will increase this total, according to Registrar Ross.

The figures at hand show a 25.7 per cent increase in the death rate over last year, as against a 34.7 per cent increase in automobile registration in 1922, compared to a 13 per cent increase in deaths and an 18 per cent jump in registration in 1922 over 1921, according to D. V. Nicholson, manager of the public safety department of the California State Automobile association.

"The figures are sufficient to account for the interest which is growing throughout the state in the public safety movement," said Nicholson. "Citizens everywhere have awakened to the necessity for action in correcting this tremendous traffic hazard."

Los Angeles led counties of the state in 1923 in motor deaths with a total of 456. San Francisco was second with 102, Alameda third with 101, Fresno fourth with 60, Orange fifth with 49. Then followed Santa Clara, 46; San Diego, 44; San Joaquin, 42, and Sacramento, 39.

The most systematic collection of remains of California Indians to be found in the world is the work of Professor Kroeber, of the University of California anthropology department, housed at the university's anthropology museum at theaffiliated colleges in San Francisco. This museum is one of the three best collegiate museums in the country and, although small in quantity, makes up in quality, is the opinion of Professor Leslie Spier, of the University of Washington, Seattle, now engaged in research work at the University of California.

Speaking of the collections, he said: "The University of California museum ranks equally as high as the American museum, the National museum or the Field museum collections, the three best in the United States." Other collections of the affiliated colleges are a Peruvian collection from prehistoric Peru, which is one of the two best in America, and the Egyptian collection, compiled by Dr. Reisner. The other collection, that of Graeco-Roman material, is housed in the museum on the California campus for student study and research.

These collections, in Professor Spier's opinion, are adequate for any type of research work and are not mere curios. They have been carefully compiled and give definite opportunities for advanced study. The anthropology department has recently published its twentieth memorial volume in American Anthropology and Ethnography in memory of Phoebe Apperson Hearst, who started the museum in Berkeley. Since then the department has been engaged in research work and has saved the only available knowledge as to the natives of British Columbia and California.

"The worth of these series is noticeable," said Professor Spier, "for one can thus tell in a general way about the general history of the Indians and the development of civilization."

In addition to the museum and research work there are lectures for the public and classes given by the department, which bring to the community a general appreciation of what the early inhabitants of California were like. The present dwellers are thus given an enlarged vision by being shown how the problem of living has been solved in the past, Professor Spier pointed out.

An earthquake a week is the average recorded at the University of California seismographic station.

The California station has a world record in registering earthquakes and data on the various shocks, compiled by Professor J. B. Macelwane, of the geology department of the university, is regarded as a valuable contribution to the scientific world. Professor Macelwane has recently carried on some interesting researches into the nature of earthquake waves.

He has just completed data on the Corralitos earthquake of September 19, 1923. The shock was well registered at the University of California, Santa Clara University and at Lick Observatory. The records, however, were difficult to interpret and it was the problem of the scientists to discover the source of the quake.

Professor Macelwane sent questionnaires throughout the central part of California and found that the earthquake had actually been felt by some people in San Francisco and Oakland, although it occurred somewhere in the Santa Cruz mountain region. Macelwane interviewed many people in the Corralitos district, near Watsonville, and from those investigations he drew lines of relative intensity, which pointed to a position just north of Corralitos. It was found that the best interpretation of records at the three stations agreed both as to arrival times of the first vibrations and as to distance with this location.

CLASSICS OF HUMOR

"THE TWINS"

By HENRY SAMBROOKE LEIGH

In form and feature, face and limb,
I grew so like my brother,
That folks got taking me for him,
And each for one another.
It puzzled all our kith and kin,
It reached a fearful pitch;
For one of us was born a twin,
Yet not a soul knew which.

One day, to make the matter worse,
Before our names were fixed,
As we were being washed by nurse,
We got completely mixed;
And thus, you see, by fate's decree,
Or rather nurse's whim,
My brother John got christened me
And I got christened him.

The fatal likeness even dogged
My footsteps when at school,
And I was always being flogged,
For John turned out a fool.
I put this question, fruitlessly,
To every one I knew:
"What would you do, if you were me,
To prove that you were you?"

Our close resemblance turned the tide
Of my domestic life,
For somehow, my intended bride
Became my brother's wife.
In fact, year after year, the same
Absurd mistakes went on,
And when I died, the neighbors came
And buried brother John.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND UNCLE CHOW

Just as Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy finished their breakfast in the hollow stump bungalow one morning there sounded a knock on the door.

Uncle Wiggily and his muskrat lady housekeeper looked at each other.

"I wonder who that is?" whispered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"If it's the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox," began Uncle Wiggily, "they can knock all day and they can knock all night before I will let them in!"

But the muskrat lady, looking from a side window, exclaimed:

"It's Mrs. Bow Wow, the lady dog. I'll let her in!"

And when Mrs. Bow Wow had entered the bungalow she sat down in a chair that Uncle Wiggily politely pulled out for her, and, after taking a long breath, she said:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I wish you would do something for Jackie!"

"What's that? Is your little doggie boy Jackie in trouble?" cried the bunny gentleman, for he was very fond of Jackie, and also of his brother Peetie. "Perhaps the Skillery Scallery Alligator has caught Jackie," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, it isn't quite as sad as that," Mrs. Bow Wow replied. "But Jackie didn't want to put on his rubbers when he went to school this morning. He told me he simply wouldn't put them on! He said he knew better than I did, whether or not he needed rubbers!"

"You don't mean it!" cried Uncle Wiggily, very much surprised.

"Yes, indeed, that's just what he said," went on Mrs. Bow Wow. "Well, I finally made him put his rubbers on, as Peetie had done. But it was quite a sad time. Jackie is getting too old to whip, and I was wondering if you couldn't say something to him about learning to obey when I tell him to do what is good for him?"

"Um! Yes! I wonder what I could say to him?" murmured the rabbit gentleman, thinking very hard. "Yes, I'll do my best, Mrs. Bow Wow. When I go out adventuring today I'll hop around by the Hollow Stump School. When the Lady Mouse teacher lets the animal children out I'll wait for Jackie and I'll say something to him."

"I wish you would," barked Mrs. Bow Wow, softly. "Jackie needs to be taught a lesson—not only about his lesson, but about minding me in other things."

"I'll attend to it," said Uncle Wiggily.

That afternoon, when school was out, Jackie trotted down the path, but he had not gone very far before he met Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, may I come adventuring with you?" barked the puppy boy.

"Yes," answered Mr. Longears, and he was wondering what he could say to Jackie, and how to say it when, all of a sudden, they reached two paths in the woods. One turned to the right, the other path to the left.

"I'm going down this path!" barked Jackie. "Come on!"

"No! No!" quickly cried Uncle Wiggily. "That path leads to the den of the Fox. He might run after us, Jackie. Take the path to the right. We shall have a fine adventure there."

"No! I don't want to! I'm going this way!" barked Jackie, much in the same manner he had told his mother, that morning, he wasn't going to wear his rubbers.

Before Uncle Wiggily could stop him, Jackie had started down the left path that led to the den of the Fox, and Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose, ran after the little doggie boy.

"I must catch Jackie and talk to him as his mother asked me," thought Uncle Wiggily. He hopped along after the puppy chap, and had almost caught up to him when, all of a sudden, out of the bushes behind the doggie boy and rabbit, popped the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"We've got to go fast now!" barked Jackie. Looking back, over his shoulder, he had seen the Wolf coming.

On ran Jackie, wishing he had taken the other path. Beside him hopped Uncle Wiggily. After them came the hungry Wolf. And then, all of a sudden, on the path ahead of Jackie and Uncle Wiggily there sprang out another big animal with a large, fluffy head.

"Oh, dear! It's a Lion!" cried Jackie. "What are we going to do, Uncle Wiggily? There's a Wolf behind us and a Lion in front of us. Oh, why did I come down this path? Why didn't I mind you?"

"I'm sure I don't know," answered Uncle Wiggily. "It is too late to think of that now. We must think of how to save ourselves."

"I don't see how we can be saved!" howled Jackie. "I wish I had minded you and gone the other path. The Wolf is coming and so is the Lion!"

But, all of a sudden, the animal that Jackie had called a Lion began to laugh. And the Wolf suddenly stood still and cried:

"Oh, excuse me, Mr. Lion, I didn't know you hunted here! I'll go away and leave everything to you!" Then the Wolf slunk away and the other animal laughed again and said:

"Ho! Ho! I'm not a Lion. I'm your Uncle Chow, Jackie, and I am on my way to visit at your house! Hello, Uncle Wiggily!"

He simply wouldn't put them on

"Oh, I'm so glad it's you, Uncle Chow!" barked Jackie, and, surely enough, it was Uncle Chow Dog, who looked very much like a small lion. And it's a good thing he did, for thus he frightened away the real Wolf.

Then Jackie and Uncle Wiggily were glad, and the bunny didn't need to say anything about Jackie's rubbers. Uncle Chow went home with Jackie and they all had a very jolly time that evening, going over to the rabbit's bengalow for a little party.

Poems That Live

LINES

When the lamp is shatter'd,
The light in the dust lies dead;
Where the cloud is scattered,
The rainbow's glory is shed;
When the lute is broken,
Sweet tones are remembered not;
When the lips have spoken,
Loved accents are soon forgot.

As music and splendour
Survive not the lamp and the lute,
The heart's echoes render
No song when the spirit is mute—
No song but sad dirges,
Like the wind through a ruin'd cell,
Or the mournful surges
That ring the dead seaman's knell.

When hearts have once mingled,
Love first leaves the well-built nest;
The weak one is singled
To endure what it once possest.
O Love, who bewailest
The frailty of all things here,
Why choose you the frailest
For your cradle, your home and your bier?

Its passions will rock thee,
As the storms rock the ravens on high;
Bright reason will mock thee,
Like the sun from a wintry sky.
From thy nest every rafter
Will rot, and thine eagle home
Leave thee naked to laughter,
When leaves fall and cold winds come.

—Percy Bysshe Shelley.

From this point on plans are tentative. But it is generally expected here that the team of Yale and Harvard men will cross the Channel into France and play in Paris for several days. Thence they go, presumably, through Gascony, playing their game and finally into Spain. A few matches at San Sebastian are slated as the finale of what will be the most elaborate tour Yale tennis players have undertaken. The team is expected home again early in September.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 26.—Brawn of California's youth, long-developed in the far west on football field, oval and diamond, has turned over crew prospects this spring at the University of California.

Many of the men turning out for the sport at Berkeley are too heavy for the sport, according to Ky Ebright, the new coach at the blue and gold crew home.

Instead of tall, rangy men, big, brawny athletes, weighing from 10 to 20 pounds too much, are reporting for crew practice, while Ebright eagerly seeks new material.

The varsity shell has been picked as follows:

Varsity Personals

There's a hot battle for the cox-swain job.

Bob Armstrong and Tapscott battle the race and it's anybody's race right now.

Because he's a demon for hard work and always trying, Hotle, who bested last year's fresh shell, may have an edge. Armstrong, however, has had more experience than Hotle or Tapscott.

That is the way the Bears' varsity shift may look when California meets Washington at Seattle April 12, as these men are all in the shell now doing the best work of the seven oars. in the varsity and gold navy: Holland, Bow; Donaldson, No. 7; Lindstrom, No. 6; Harbeck, No. 5; Bolton, No. 4; Bolton, No. 3; Loskamp, No. 2 and Loskcamp, stroke. The last named and Donaldson and Lindstrom are veterans.

Wants Long Races

Coach Ebright is very much opposed to a movement now on foot to shorten the distance of the big intercollegiate regattas. He is introducing the Berkeley the Conibear stroke, perfected at Washington, which is ideally adapted to long races and which might prove far less effective in a shorter dash. It will take a couple of years to have the new stroke on its feet and Ebright does not want to see his hard work shot to pieces by rushing in of the lapped-off races. Washington is also bucking the proposal to shorten up the events.

The Conibear stroke was used by Washington last year in the big win over the Navy and the

Robin Hood Of Baseball Tommy Would Be — — — — — Brown Finds Curveless Star Has "Hook"

By NORMAN E. BROWN

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 24.—Little Tommy Long, half-pint in size but as courageous as a gent with two quarts under his belt, intends to be the Robin Hood of baseball.

Kept from the big leagues for two years by an unkind trick of fate—the while the New York Giants were hogging the pennant money and shares of the world's series coin—Mr. Long now has but one thought in mind, to stampede the haughty New Yorkers in an off trail path and give the rest of the National league a chance to live on the fat of the land.

In other words this demi tasse hurler, now with the Brooklyn Dodgers, is confident that he can not only pitch winning ball for Uncle Robbie's outfit but, for one thing, can turn back McGraw's men and make the National league race interesting.

Curveless, 'Twas Said

Long was obtained by the Dodgers from Mobile last fall in the draft. He had spent four years in the American association and a year in the Southern. He joined the Brooklynites here with the distinction of having risen to the big show without a curve ball.

Here was a freak. What did Mr. Long carry in his baseball grip that enabled him, without the use of hooks, to kid the best minor league batters into missing 'em? They missed aplenty. Long won twenty-one and lost but seven games for Mobile last season.

So, when I spotted him unlimbering along the side lines of the Dodger playground here I strolled that way. First ball he threw imitated a hungry pelican the way it wandered through the air. It hooked north by east for what seemed about four feet.

"That must have slipped," said I, and drew closer. Long eased a couple more across.

"And you're the gent they said had no curve," I remarked.

"Say, do me a favor," pipes up Wee Tommy. "Tell me who pulled that yarn about me getting up here without a hook?"

"I'd been here two years ago if I could have made the grade without it.

Has the Plate Tamed

"Two years ago, with Louisville I hurt my arm. The doctors said it might come back all right if I laid off the curve. I had a slow ball and could get a zip on the fast one—giving me at least a fair change of pace, so got along without it. (He won seven and lost nine games that year—1922). Last year they moved me to Mobile. The hot sun there must have done the business. Anyhow, the soreness went way and I found I could hook them without any damage, when I wanted to. I played it safe, though, and kept the curve ball wrapped up most of the time. The big leagues must have heard about it, though, cause here I am."

In addition to the curve that the baseball public was told he didn't have, Thomas the Tiny has beautiful control. Which makes him more of a freak. Lefthanders usually aren't on speaking terms with the plate. Long dusted along through 256 innings last season and hung up a record of but 3.05 earned runs per game—a mark that few righthanders in the league equaled.

He walked but sixty-four batters, a small number in comparison to the other pitchers' records. What indicates more clearly his ability to locate the plate is the fact that he was credited with hitting but one batsman and failed to turn loose a single wild pitch.

Despite Long's diminutive size he seems to have the physique to stand the big league gaff. He is husky across the shoulders and has an easy pitching motion which takes the minimum exertion. And there is no doubt but what Uncle Robbie will welcome anyone to his pitching fold who can go the route regularly.

GIANTS POINTING AT ANOTHER FLAG

McGraw's Minions Planning to Take Revenge on Yanks for 1923 Defeat

By NICK FLATLEY
For International News Service

SARASOTA, Fla., March 26.—The champion New York Giants are in the usual championship mood this spring and even at this early date are meditating revenge on the Yankees in the next world's series. The basis for said meditation rests in the fact that two of the new pitchers have displayed remarkable early form.

Wayland Dean, the million-dollar baby from Louisville, Ky., and Ernie Maun, a big boy from Wichita, Kan., are the pair of pitching Moses who are supposed to lead the Giants back onto the glory trail. Dean was one of the high-priced stars of the winter trading season. He is a rangy chap and has everything a pitcher needs in the curve line. He has been chucking long enough and has not any of the earmarks of the novice. Dean gave a lot of bases on balls last year and will find the clubs waiting him out on that account. Maun, slightly less advertised, is big and strong, with a fast curve.

Howard Baldwin, from Kansas City, is another chucker with more than a fifty-fifty chance to remain with the club. He has shown some fine pitching.

Sharp-Shooting Staff

These three sharp-shooters, with Joe Oeschger, who came from the Braves, are the only strangers who will figure on the pitching staff. McQuillan, in great spring form; Watson, Nehf, Bentley and Ryan, as well as Virgil Barnes, all seem sure of summer jobs.

Bentley, an in-and-outer in 1923, has been worked hard this spring and is in fine physical trim and has been throwing baseballs past a lot of good hitters.

The addition of Bill Southworth, late Brave, has strengthened the Giant outfield. Bill is a great fielder and a fine hitter, much superior to Casey Stengel, as long as a weak knee holds up.

Rival for Meusel

The club has also acquired a useful utility gardener in the person of Hap Wilson, from the Virginia league. He may give Irish Meusel a real chase for a varsity place. The high-priced O'Connell appears to be in better health this spring than he was a year ago.

The loss of Dave Bancroft cannot but hurt the infield. They don't manufacture shortstops like Dave more than once or twice in a generation. But the inner defenses are not going to be weak at all. Travis Jackson is a good enough shortstop for almost any ball club. He's speedy and sure in the field, and hitting the onion merrily.

Heinie Groh, at third, will have to start slipping some time, but he looks better this spring than he did in 1923. Some real competition from Lindstrom, a Toledo development, has the little fellow on the jump.

Good First Sacker

Manager McGraw has also a pretty good first baseman lingering around to keep George Kelly on edge. Bill Terry, also from Toledo, a converted pitcher, also can play the bag and is a wicked hitter. He will be kept as a utility man, anyhow.

Eddie Ainsmith, who couldn't get along with Branch Rickey of the Cardinals, has been attached to the catching department and will help a lot, as neither Snyder nor Gowdy are as young as they used to be. The Giants could use a young, fast catcher.

Looks as if the Giants will repeat, provided the pitchers come anywhere near up to expectations.

KEARNS POSITIVE JACK WILL FIGHT

Says Champ Meets Contender Labor Day—Provided One Shows Up

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 26.—Before boarding a transcontinental train for California, where he will sign a so-called million dollar contract for picture work with haste, satisfaction and a fountain pen, Jack Kearns assured one and all that nothing would be permitted to interfere with Jack Dempsey's appearance in defense of his title during the outdoor season. The statement was calculated to refine innuendoes that art for art's sake would keep the champion out of the ring this year.

Nothing could be further from the truth, according to Kearns. He said that Dempsey would step out for at least one frolic against a legitimate contender on or about Labor day and that the auspices of Tex Rickard at Jersey City or Jim Coffroth at Tia Juana would grace the proceedings. He added that the picture contract would preclude Dempsey's appearance in the ring from April to September, this being one of its specific terms.

Opponents Are Shy

"We are really forced into picture work by the non-activity of Jack's opponents," Kearns said. "Jack cut short a profitable tour of the south to return here in case he was wanted. Yet we have received no definite offers. Firpo has eliminated himself, if reports about his retirement are true.

"Wills and Gibbons are doing nothing to create a public demand for matches with Dempsey. I can't see why either of them would not be satisfied to enter an elimination tournament with the winner to meet the champion. Take the case of Wills. If he survived the tournament public demand would dissipate much of the prejudice against an attempt by him to win the heavyweight title.

Rickard Stands Pat

"This million dollar picture offer is legitimate. It came to me in a telegram from Carl Laemmle and I have every assurance that it is bona fide. It will keep the champion out of the ring until late summer, but after that he will be ready for the best men in sight. It is up to Gibbons, Wills and Firpo to take advantage of the situation and prove which is the logical contender."

It is believed among boxing men here that Kearns and Rickard have an understanding on the September date at Jersey City. In speaking of this Rickard reaffirmed his statement that he was still in the field for a Firpo-Wills match, with the winner to meet Dempsey. He added that he would not increase his offer of $150,000 to Wills for that particular attraction.

ENGLISH RUNNERS WILL INVADE U. S.

Cambridge Sprinters Meet Georgetown and Penn Stars In Relay

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Mar. 26.—A fine time will be had by all on the afternoon of Saturday, April 26, when the greatest two-mile relay men of two continents will step out at the annual Pennsylvania relay carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. One of the early entries is that of Cambridge University, England, which means that Cambridge University considers itself well heeled with middle distance men. Otherwise, it would decline with dignified haste to be a party to the proceedings.

But however good the English may be, they will have to uncover a very hasty shank to get home ahead of two American quartets, namely those of Georgetown University and Penn State, the present outdoor champion. In fact, the team that beats this pair will get inside the world's record by several seconds, in the opinion of competent observers.

Runners Look Good

Georgetown, with Jack Holden, Eddie Brooks, Walter Gegan and George Marsters, is the bread winner at the premature writing. The Washington entry did 7:56, indoors, in winning the Intercollegiate two-mile relay title by many yards. This was even more marvelous running that would appear at first blush.

One of the Georgetown's runners lost at least fifty yards in dropping his baton, and another twenty-five yards was squandered in a careless touch-off between the second and third runners. Seventy-five yards usually means about nine seconds in such a race. Therefore Georgetown had the running on the night in question to better the world's outdoor record of Penn State.

Enck Holds Record

State itself will be back with another likely quartet, headed by Allan Helffrich, half-mile Intercollegiate champion, and Schuyler Enck, holder of the world's record for 800 meters, indoors. If they come to the Pennslyvania carnival in form, Helffrich and Enck will each step a half mile in better than 1:55. Eddie Carter, member of last years' record-breaking team, is also available, so that if State can develop a fourth man capable of two minutes for the half it will run inside the present record.

The prospect is that, barring the unforseen, Georgetown and Penn State will not be two yards shells of eastern colleges. The slow, graceful stroke easily distanced the short, swift, and rath-

Sport Crucible

By DAVIS J. WALSH

With the Olympic games coming on apace, encouragement and disappointment rubbed elbows as a result of the indoor track and field campaign just concluded. Many fine prospects were uncovered at the short and middle distances, but not one American runner, Joie Ray included, who figured to furnish real opposition to Nurmi of Finland, Wide of Sweden and other foreign entries at 1500 metres and upward.

Ray experienced his most disappointing indoor season of recent years. He broke only one record, a distinct novelty for Ray, and twice he was beaten in scratch races. Once the most consistent runner in America, he became a rank in-and-outer, giving a second rate performance one night and a championship effort the next. Ray's most laudable achievement came in winning the Hunter mile in 4:18 3-5, a new record for the distance.

Distance Men Flop

A teammate, Ray Watson, was likewise a disappointment. Watson looked like the best half-miler in the world late in the 1923 outdoor season, but couldn't win on the boards this winter. It is said that he is overtrained. The same excuse is offered for Jake Driscoll, supposed to be America's leading quarter-miler. Except in isolated instances, Driscoll couldn't run fast enough to keep warm on our indoor tracks.

Illness has prevented Jimmy Connolly, former intercollegiate champion, from running to form. Connolly did 4:17 4-5 for the mile during the 1923 indoor season, but couldn't beat 4:30 this winter with a motorcycle. He was another disappointment.

Sprinters Excel

The situation, however, had its optimistic aspects. Loren Murchison gave one of the best exhibitions of any sprint season in winning 24 starts in 25, being beaten only by Chester Bowman of Syracuse, an almost certain Olympic point winner. At the quarter, Vernon Ascher did some great running until he broke down temporarily; Joe Tierney showed a rare turn of speed in winning the Buermeyer 500 and the Casey 600, and Allen Woodring, perhaps the best 440 man of the lot, ran close to 49 seconds in a recent relay race, after playing dead for most of the indoor season.

Schuyler Enck turned in a 1:54 3-5 effort for a world indoor record at 800 metres and ran several creditable races at one mile, although slightly outshone there by Lloyd Hahn, a very promising youth from Boston. Ray, however, was the best miler of the season and obliged also with the fastest two miles of the campaign, closely followed by Verne Booth.

Field Work Good

Performances in the field events indicated an American landslide in the high jump and broad jump at Paris, with a heavy scoring in the pole vault and shotput. Landon, Brown and Osborne should take the first three places in the high jump, barring accidents, and De Hart Hubbard and Al Rose are almost certain to finish one-two in the broad jump. Libby of Dartmouth, Owen of Pennsylvania and several westerners were consistent "twelve-eight" men in the pole vault and Ralph Hills' shot-putting was sufficiently good to warrant the belief that he may win that event. The same may be said of Anderson, the Chicago hurdler, who broke several world's records before an injury laid him low.

BOWLERS LAUNCH GLENDALE LEAGUE

McCoy and Neise Elected to Head Organization of Ten Teams

The Glendale City league was organized last evening and elected James McCoy president, and Peter Neise, secretary and treasurer. The season will start Monday night, March 31, with a match between Harris & Hull and the Glendale Dry Goods.

The teams that compose the league are: Harris & Hull, Central Cleaners, Glendale Dry Goods, Red Feather, Psenner Bros., I. B. Carlocks, Gateways, Russell & Pierce Furniture Co., Glendale Tile & Mantel, Radio Gas.

Tonight the Kiwanis Bowling team meet the Exchange Club bowling team in a match.

U. S. C. Net Stars to Meet Tigers Friday

The Occidental varsity tennis team will meet the University of Southern California net stars on the Tiger courts next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Although this is not a conference match, much interest is centered around this meet as the two schools are great rivals though not in the same conference. Each institution has a strong team. Oxy will meet Loyola next Tuesday and then close the season.

Tiger Nine to Meet Fullerton High Team

Coach Wilkie Clark's Oxy freshmen baseball team will go to Fullerton High Friday afternoon and cross bats with the prep nine. The frosh are going strong and have swept every team they have met off their feet, and are high bidders for the conference title.

They are all performing like veterans and have defeated Franklin and Lincoln, and they downed the Jefferson High crew, 11 to 3, in a fast game of ball. The superior hurling of Teachout, star frosh twirler, is accounting for the numerous victories. The entire team has been doing some good work with the bat and the average for the team is high. Brobst, Godet, Mishkin, Hasserott, Gregory, Condie, Hammersly and Deaver are fast developing into a wonderful baseball team.

Tigers Will Wind Up Kansas City Series

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—Tomorrow the Vernon Tigers will play Kansas City in the third game of their three-game series here.

Infielder Radke, released by the Los Angeles club, will join the Hamilton, Ontario, club this year. If Radke's injured arm improves he probably will again join the Angels later in the season.

Harry Williams, president of the Coast league, today mailed a season pass to all games in his circuit to President Coolidge. Pass No. 2 will be sent to Governor Friend W. Richardson of California.

Wilson Midgets Beat Glendale Avenue Nine

Wilson Intermediate Midgets won a hard fought game with Glendale Avenue Tuesday afternoon, with a score of 9-8, the two winning runs being scored in the ninth inning. Glendale Avenue, captained by Ardell McLaughlin, outplayed Wilson but lost the game through errors. The line-up was as follows:

Wilson — Denny Tatlaw, c.; Charles Caballero (c), Merle Stubs, Gilbert Eckles, p.; James Steiner, 1; Kenneth Davis, 2; Merle Stubs, ss.; Bobby Morrison, 3; Carter Booth, rf.; David Chasse, cf.; Gilbert Eckles, lf.

Propose Submitting Amendments to Vote

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Senate late yesterday by a vote of 34 to 29 adopted an amendment by Senator Jones, Republican of Wisconsin, to the proposed Wadsworth amendment to the constitution, whereby any constitutional amendments would be submitted to the qualified electors and the legislature of the state. The original Wadsworth amendment would have put a constitutional amendment up to the electors alone. The Jones provision put it up to them after it had been voted upon by the legislature.

Pirates Meet Seals; Cubs Battle Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Unless it rains, two major league ball clubs will play in the bay district today. The Pittsburg Pirates are scheduled to play here with the San Francisco Seals and the Chicago Cubs and Oakland will open a series in Oakland.

Navy Athletes Begin Training for Olympic

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has prepared an order sending all navy athletes to Annapolis at once to start training for the Olympic games.

Nemesis Of Daugherty

ROXIE STINSON, divorced wife of Jesse W. Smith, confidant of the attorney general, causes sensation when she tells Senate committee that her husband was driven to suicide by Harry M. Daugherty, whom she holds morally responsible for his tragic death.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The investigation into Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty by the Wheeler-Brookhart committee started off with a fresh sensation today when Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jesse W. Smith, boon friend of Daugherty, testified that "Jesse committed suicide," but was driven to it by Harry Daugherty.

"I consider Harry Daugherty morally responsible for the death of Jesse Smith," said the witness dramatically.

"I was not present when he killed himself, but, in view of the way in which he put his house in order, I am convinced he took his own life."

Mrs. Stinson's reference to Smith's suicide was made in connection with an investigation that was launched quietly by the committee a few days ago to determine the circumstances surrounding Smith's death. This investigation was started because of rumors and insinuations that Smith may have met with foul play, although at the time of his death there was no intimation or hint that it was anything but self-destruction.

Smith killed himself a year ago in the apartment in Wardman Park hotel which he jointly shared with the attorney-general. He was alone in the apartment at the time, Daugherty having spent the night at the White House with the late President Harding.

The bullet wound that caused Smith's death, Mrs. Stinson said, was clear, and "there was a great bruise on his left temple which, they said, was caused by his falling against a waste basket."

Mrs. Stinson spoke of the death of her former husband in a voice quivering with emotion.

being "morally responsible for Jesse Smith's suicide." Her ex-husband committed suicide, she said, but he was driven to it by Harry Daugherty. How this was accomplished she did not say and the committee did not press her.

Mrs. Stinson was a somewhat reluctant witness, evidently owing to the absence of Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, under whose direction she came to Washington. Wheeler was sick and the questioning today was conducted by Senator Brookhart of Iowa.

Powders Her Nose

"We would like to know especially if E. B. McLean was in on that deal," Brookhart asked of Mrs. Stinson.

The witness was silent.

"Have you told any member of the committee about this $33,000,000 deal?"

"No, I just touched on it to Senator Wheeler, but I did not tell him any more than I told here."

A buzz of comment swept through the crowd. The committee conferred for a minute and decided to consider her refusal to testify later in executive session.

While she waited the committee's decision, Mrs. Stinson idly powdered her nose.

Brookhart then introduced a batch of telegrams that passed between Smith and Mrs. Stinson.

On motion of CouncilmanH all, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, meeting was adjourned.

TIGERS TO HOLD HIGH SCHOOL DAY

Annual Event Planned for May 10 at Occidental; Men In Charge

Occidental college students are preparing for the annual Men's High School day, which is set for Saturday, May 10. A novel affair is promised, which will give the visiting men a taste of practically all phases of Occidental's many activities. Every boy who is interested in visiting Occidental, or who plans on attending Oxy some time in the future, whether he is a senior, post-graduate or underclassman, is invited to be the guest of the Tiger men on High School day.

The program is in charge of Herbert Sutton, president of the Junior class. Every Oxy student will be on hand to show the visitors around the campus, and regular classes will be held, so that newcomers may get a real taste of college life, both socially and educationally.

A free luncheon and large banquet in the evening are a part of the program. In the afternoon there will be several athletic contests for the benefit of the prep men. The track team will stage an exhibition on that afternoon. The baseball team will meet one of the conference teams, and the tennis team will also perform. In the evening a Tiger rally will be held around a huge bonfire. Maynard Munger, the yell leader, will lead in college songs and yells.

and it appeared that the rain would not stop for several hours.

To Get Money

COALINGA, March 26.—Charles M. Hatfield, "rain-maker," who contracted, March 15, to supply farmers of the Hanford-Coalinga section with two inches of rain by April 15, has won $2000 by recording of downpour of one and one-quarter inches, and enough rain may have fallen to give him the full $8000 payment for two inches.

This announcement was made here today by Jacob Sawang, member of the farmers' committee who signed the contract with Hatfield.

Women's Glee Club to Stage Home Concert

The Occidental college Women's Glee club will present their annual home concert tomorrow night, Thursday, March 27, at 8 o'clock, in the college auditorium.

Under the direction of Mrs. Maud Reeves Barnard a delightful and entertaining program has been arranged. Miss Alice Gates of Pasadena, whistler, will give several selections. Sarah Margaret Burns, also of Pasadena, will recite a number of readings. Then there are to be saxophone and vocal solos. The "Old-Fashioned Girls' Quartet," composed of Ruth Fowler, Josephine Free, Louise Stone and Gertrude Russell, will interpret some of the southern love songs.

Many Write Reasons Why They Came To Live Here

Replies to the request made by The Gendale Evening News in its issue of Saturday, March 22, asking the citizens of Glendale who came here from other communities to say just why they decided to settle in Glendale, are already beginning to pour in.

Every writer has given his or her reasons on WHY I CAME TO GLENDALE, and nearly all of them show that Glendale was selected as a home place only after careful comparison with other Southland communities.

Why did YOU come to Glendale? There must have been some definite reason why YOU brought your family to Glendale and cast your lot in with those who had already made their homes here.

The Glendale Evening News is offering three cash prizes for the best letters telling why their writers settled here. The first prize will be $25, the second $15, and the third $10, and the only condition is that the letters must not exceed 150 words in length. Employes of this newspaper and members of their families are barred from participating.

The contest will close March 29, and all replies must be in before that time, addressed to GLENDALE EDITOR, The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, Calif.

HAS ANSWER TO PASTOR'S SERMON

Defends Christian Science In Replying to Recent Talk by Rev. Evans

changed and revised and re-changed again?" The recanting Christian Science leader, who, we are told, first suggested this question to Doctor Evans, would have found more light had she turned to page 361 of her Science and Health and read the simple and direct answer which Mrs. Eddy herself gives to this question: "I have revised Science and Health," she says, "only to give a clearer and fuller expression of its original meaning. Spiritual ideas unfold as we advance." Could aught be more logical?

Is It Scientific?

"It is not scientific!" exclaims the doctor. Twelve years ago the writer would have gone the doctor one better and added that Christian Science was not only unscientific, but non-intelligent and lacking in coherence. This is the experience of many who are drawn to Christian Science. They come to scoff, linger to marvel, and remain to sit at the feet of Wisdom and learn their lesson like little children in school.

Present day thought accepts as "scientific" that theory which has a well defined, standardized technique of practise through which the theory can be applied. The age demands a theory that, when so applied, can be depended upon to produce a high ratio of successful, beneficial and permanent results. In other words, it should be something that any intelligent person can study and understand, something he can put into practise and something that will make humanity better. Theory, practise and results must articulate and harmonize. Christian Science meets each one of these requirements.

It is commonly difficult for one to grasp the theory of Christian Science at the beginning. The usual experience is that one hears people testify to physical healings that seem almost miracles, or solutions of personal and financial difficulties that to mortal sense appear supernatural. The hearer believes—without understanding—and asks to be healed likewise. Observing and analyzing the "mental work" or "treatment" that healed him, he perceives the method—nothing more or less than a simple, faithful prayer to God.

So, he has before him the fact that in his experience there have been demonstrated two of the essentials for science—results and method. These tend to prove the correctness of the third essential, and his ambition to study the theory and understand it is stimulated. It is what business men term a "show me" process of conversion. Instead of beginning with the theory, it begins with the goods.

"Unchristian," Evans Says

"It is not Christian," asserts Doctor Evans. As a standard for comparison, the writer has obtained from inquiry among a number of business and professional men of many creeds the following summary:

"Any doctrine is 'Christian' which (1) Receives the Bible as the word of God, (2) Accepts unreservedly the divinity and teachings of Jesus Christ, (3) Demands that its followers faithfully put His teachings into practise."

Christian Science certainly meets these tests. Critical theologians may give a weird slant to isolated passages clipped at random from Science and Health, but to criticise it intelligently and fairly it must be studied and the acts of those who follow its teachings must be observed. The theory of radio-transmission cannot be grasped without first understanding the principle of the dry-cell. Understanding of Christian Science—what it is and how it does—comes from acceptance of simple propositions such as "God is Good." From these, the student progresses to the more involved formulae.

"It denies the personality of God," affirms this critic. Now, if by "personality" is meant a concept of a 'God in man's image", an exalted being with human form and venerable mien, perhaps seated on a golden throne in the upper atmosphere—then Christian Science does deny that concept. And so, likewise, think many other enlightened Christians of today. Mankind seeks a higher and more spiritual concept.

To the writer, it appears that Christian Science teaches that God is so vast, so good, so eternal, so powerful, that with our limited imaginations of time, dimension, weight, sound, color and motion, we must fail utterly in trying to paint a mental picture of God as person. Christian Science seems to point out that God can be discerned only by spiritual sense. Spiritual sense would include the qualities that people term "moral sense" and "sense of right and wrong" or "conscience" or [illegible] As to what is, and what is not specifically, the true teaching concerning Jesus Christ there appears to be some division recently in the Protestant churches—not excepting the doctor's own denomination. Cries of "heretic" and "treason" resound. All these warring factions accept the biblical word as the truth concerning Jesus Christ, but differ as to its interpretation.

One of the quiet spots amid all this clamor is the Christian Science church. The Christian Scientists found their whole teaching about Jesus Christ upon the Bible. They accept the biblical word about Him in its entirety. That Christian Scientists are able to interpret this Word today in harmony with each other and at peace with contemporary denominations—while round about the sparks fly from theological swords—leads the writer to conclude that their teaching about Christ must be true, since manifested in good works.

"It denies sin," Dr. Evans charges. The writer is moved to inquire "What matter if it does?" Few of us care what indignities are heaped upon sin so long as it is driven out and replaced with well-doing. Thousands rise in Christian Science churches over the land every Wednesday evening testifying that Christian Science does cleanse them from sin and protect them from sin. Those interested in the theological aspect of the doctor's objection will find on page 472 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy's answer to the question "What is sin?" To the writer the most vital thing in this connection is the demonstrated fact that where Christian Science enters, sin departs.

Church Marriages

"Did you ever hear of a marriage ceremony in a Christian church?" concludes the doctor. The answer to this would be emphatically in the affirmative—and that nothing else has ever been heard of as authority for those who live in wedlock in the Christian Science church. Prompt discipline would undoubtedly follow the attempt of any member to put into practise unlawful or bizarre theories concerning the marriage covenant.

Doctor Evans has confused the word "church" with "church edifice" or "church building." In the Christian Science church edifices there is no performance of marriage ceremonies, nor of christenings, baptisms, confirmations, funerals, Christmas trees, parades, picnics nor ice cream sociables. There is a marked absence of ceremonial. The services are limited to readings from the Bible and from Science and Health, hymns of thanksgiving, and testimonials of healings and remarks on Christian Science.

Members who marry are free to choose whether they will have the ceremony performed by duly constituted civil authorities, or by pastors of other Christian churches. They may have the ceremony performed in their homes or if they wish, in other Christian church edifices. All that the Christian Science church asks is that it be done decently and in order and that all the law be fulfilled.

The reader who will turn to the chapter on "Marriage" in Mrs. Eddy's book, Science and Health, will find a wholesome attitude and much good counsel upon the subject. Quoting from page 60: "Marriage should improve the human species, becoming a barrier against vice, a protection to woman, strength to man, and a center for the affections." And on page 56: "Infidelity to the marriage covenant is the social scourge of all races." Also page 64: "Honesty and virtue insure the stability of the marriage covenant." Page 60: "Mother-love includes purity and constancy, both of which are immortal." Page 59: "The nuptial vow should never be annulled so long as its moral obligations are kept intact."

Competitors "Sell" It

One principle of salesmanship expounded to young salesmen by experienced sales managers is the following: "Above all, avoid drawing attention to your competitors' wares! Pointing out the flaws in your competitors' goods may operate to turn the attention of your prospect to their virtues and thus lose you the sale."

The writer has often wondered why this principle is not taught in schools of divinity. It is amusing to see how theologians continually fall for the temptation to spice their own selling-talk with attacks on Christian Science. Long before the writer ever regarded Christian Science seriously, his curiosity to learn more of it was stimulated by the enthusiasm of competitive clergymen as they "lambasted" the Science and its students. Many converts to Christian Science are made in this wise.

I believe I voice the thought of an intelligent masculine majority in saying that what men ask from the clergy today is not doctrine, but works; not preaching so much as teaching; less theology, argument and controversy and more of the healing Word. For men like Doctor Evans and the rest of his cloth who have consecrated their lives to the work of leading and lifting up humanity, we have naught but deepest respect and affection. But in the sound of their strife there is no comfort. We need peace on earth, good will towards men.

Arguments do not convert. The healing obtained in the Christian Science churches today is the magnet that draws men toward Mrs. Eddy's teachings. Christian Scientists are DOERS. The Christian Science practitioners or "healers" preach hardly at all but the answer to their prayer accomplishes wonders in healing and in comforting. The members of the church as a class, radiate kindness, helpfulness, success, optimism and sincerity. These are the realities that beckon like a friendly shore to the derelict, adrift on the turbulent waters of present day controversy and materiality.

Y. W. C. A. Conference Will Be Held at Oxy

The Annual Intercollegiate Conference of the Southern California Y. W. C. A., which was to have been held at Santa Ana, is to be on the Occidental Campus over the week-end. The convention begins at noon Friday, March 28, and ends Sunday morning, March 30.

Several hundred girls from the institutions all over the south are expected to attend. Elaborate plans are in order for the guests. Committees are working on the different divisions. Beth Dean, president of the Occidental Y. W. C. A., is chairman of the reception committee.

The visitors will be taken on sightseeing trips in and around Los Angeles, Glendale, Pasadena and other points of interest. Many prominent men and women in this part of the state will address the organization. President Dexter of Whittier college is to deliver the main lecture before the convention Saturday night.

Peagreen Edition of Tiger Paper Coming

The freshmen edition of the "Occidental" newspaper will appear on the campus next Tuesday morning, decorated with plenty of green ink, typical of the unsophisticated frosh. The peagreener edition is predicted to be the outstanding issue of the four classes and should win the competitive prize offered for the most unique and original paper. Samuel Peck, the editor-in-chief of the yearling publication, is working hard to produce an attractive class newspaper. Since the freshmen edition will come off the press on Tuesday, April 1, only time can decide whether it shall be considered a joke or not.
